Fidel Tours Ruined Area, Gets Dunked

Castro Rescued After Amphibious Truck Swamped

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro narrowly escaped drowning in an Oriente Province river flooded by the rains of Hurricane Flora, Radio Havana said Tuesday.

The story of Castro's mishap Monday was broadcast to the Cuban people in the wake of a government order halving their food rations to compensate for Flora's damage to crops, poultry and livestock.

The Tass correspondent in Havana reported to Moscow that "the toll of human casualties is continuing to grow" but gave no figure.

Inspection Tour Mishap

The bearded prime minister was on an inspection tour of the hurricane-ravaged eastern provinces. He and his party were traveling by automobile along the island's central highway when they found high water had knocked out a bridge over La Rioja River, between Victoria de las Tunas and Holguin.

Radio Havana said Castro and three aides transferred to an amphibious truck for the crossing. The swift current pushed the vehicle against a tree and waves washed over its open back. Swamped, the truck began to sink.

Peasants quickly backed a heavy truck to the water's edge, knotted ropes to the truck and hurled the free ends to Castro's party. The prime minister and his aides pulled themselves to safety.

Castro completed his trip to Holguin on a bus.

Coffee Marketing Halted

The eastern provinces of Oriente and Camaguey, prime producers of sugar cane, cattle and coffee, were hardest hit in Hurricane Flora's five-day visit to Cuba.

The Agrarian Reform Institute, which is in charge of food production and distribution, said the marketing of coffee was halted because the crop was just in the process of being harvested.

Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, chief of the institute, said the Soviet Union has agreed to transfer to Cuba 5,000 tons of coffee the Russians had bought from Brazil.

The 50 per cent slash in food rations includes meat, of which the standard allotment had been 48 ounces a month.

Education Aid Bill Is Passed 80-4 By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed its first major education bill of the year Tuesday, authorizing $3.2 billion for vocational training, college loans, and impacted areas.

The bill expanded a straight vocational education bill that was passed by the House earlier this year. The new version must win House approval before it can go to the White House.

The roll call vote in the Senate was lopsided, with the bill passing 80-4.

It marked the first time that the Senate has voted on any recommendation made by President Kennedy in his comprehensive education message last Jan. 29.

The vocational education funds in the Senate version are exactly what Kennedy asked in his civil rights message last June 19.

The $1.5 billion, 5-year vocational education section of the bill would include $945 million in grants to the states. The House voted $630 million.

The Senate bill would allot most of the funds to the states on a formula taking into account per capita income so that poor states would get a larger share. The House formula is based solely on population.

Negro Leaders Issue Ultimatum At Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Negro integration leaders Tuesday threatened renewed demonstrations if the city of Birmingham does not hire at least 25 Negroes as policemen.

The demands were issued by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, who said Negroes were losing faith in the intentions of city leaders.

The two men, in a prepared statement, demanded that 25 Negroes be hired as policemen within two weeks, but later qualified the statement. They said that "good faith" and indications that the city would hire Negroes as policemen might prevent resumption of demonstrations.

Specifically, the two men demanded that a minimum of two Negroes be hired as policemen within the next two weeks and that a face-to-face meeting be held between the City Council and Negro leaders to discuss how Negro employment may be upgraded in the fire department and other fields.

Dynamite Conviction

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A city judge Tuesday convicted a white man of illegally possessing dynamite in connection with Birmingham's racial bombings.

The man, Charles Cagle, 22, of Birmingham, was sentenced to six months of hard labor and fined $100 and costs.

Cagle and two other white men, who are to be tried on similar charges Wednesday, were arrested about two weeks after a bomb killed four Negro girls attending Sunday School in a Negro church on Sept. 29.

Ike, Barry Disagree On Some Issues But Will Team Up For Terse Platform

By JACK BELL

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower disagrees with Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., on some civil rights and tax issues but the two will work together for a terse 1964 party platform.

Eisenhower called on Republicans in an interview with The Associated Press for "a good lively fight" at next year's convention over a short, "clean-cut program of action" and the nomination of a presidential candidate who supports its majority views.

Goldwater, a potential bidder for the 1964 nomination, said in a separate interview in Washington that he and Eisenhower have agreed they will support a short statement of principles instead of the usual lengthy, all-inclusive platform. He said he spoke to the for-

Measure To Ban Discrimination Is Toned Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee toned down and then approved Tuesday a bill to ban racial discrimination in public accommodations—the heart of President Kennedy's civil rights program.

Approval by a 143 vote came after the committee stuck in many exemptions, including those neighborhood shops not part of an interstate chain and some rooming houses with fewer than five rooms to rent.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., the chairman, said the committee would report the bill to the Senate in 10 days. But this did not mean the awaited battle on civil rights would begin then.

House Bill Awaited

Senate leaders now plan to leave the committee's bill hanging and wait for a civil rights bill to come from the House. Magnuson, however, said this strategy might change if the House delayed a long time.

In any case, Senate leaders expect a Southern filibuster.

Here are the key provisions of the committee's bill:

1. It prohibits discrimination by retail shops, drugstores, restaurants and other private shops if they serve interstate travelers to a substantial degree or primarily sell goods that have moved in interstate commerce. Magnuson said the last clause would exempt neighborhood shops not part of a national chain.

2. It prohibits discrimination by a hotel, motel, or other public lodging unless the owner lives on the premises and rents no more than five rooms.

Entertainment Field Covered

3. It prohibits discrimination by movie houses, theaters, sports arenas and other public places of entertainment.

4. The attorney general could bring injunction suits on behalf of individuals who claim they had been discriminated against and who were unable to pay for the suit themselves. There would be jury trials for all defendants. The maximum sentence would be $1,000 fine and 60 days in prison.

5. Before court action would begin, there would be a 30-day period in which the attorney general or a state or local agency would attempt to persuade the owner to comply with the law.

6. It prohibits labor unions or trade associations from denying membership because of race, color, national origin or religion.

Congress Approves Arms Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate and House Tuesday gave quick approval to a compromise $47.2 billion "peace insurance" defense spending bill, the second largest appropriations measure in the nation's peacetime history.

The House approved the compromise bill first by a 335 to 3 roll call vote. An hour later, the Senate acted on a voice vote with no debate.

mer president recently about this and other matters.

"It should be a platform setting out basic principles which any Republican could support," Goldwater said. "It should leave up to the nominee the details of working out how its objectives should be accomplished."

Eisenhower, who recently said he was unclear about some of Goldwater's views, said he thinks the Arizona senator "has probably taken a moderate course" on civil rights.

He was reminded that Goldwater opposes a provision of the Kennedy program which would require integration in businesses serving the public.

The former president said he thinks any provision of this nature should be based on the 14th and 15th Amendments and not on

Ben Bella's Battle Report Says 10 Slain

Algerian President Calls Off Plans For Flying Trip To U.N.

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—The Algerian army fought three battles Tuesday with Moroccan troops on the Algerian-Moroccan border, well-informed sources reported.

President Ahmed Ben Bella announced earlier in a news conference that Algerian troops had fought a bloody battle against "uncontrolled elements," killing 10 of them.

The 10 enemy dead referred to by Ben Bella were all Moroccan nationals, the source said.

The informed source said the opposition forces were definitely Moroccan, but this early report did not specify whether they were members of Moroccan regular army units.

Ben Bella, in the news conference, said that in the skirmish Algerian soldiers had burned five or six trucks which bore Moroccan license plates.

The fighting took place in Algerian territory some 40 miles southwest of Colomb Bechar, situated 600 miles southwest of Algiers, according to the source.

Ben Bella Tuesday pledged there will be "no discussions, no horse trading" with insurgent Berbers seeking his overthrow from a mountain stronghold.

Ben Bella spoke at a news conference on his return from Bougie, one of the cities in the Kabylia region, where Berber tribesmen have revolted against his one-man, one-party rule.

While in Bougie, 184 miles east of Algiers, he issued a virtual ultimatum to the political and military leaders of the clandestine Socialist Forces Front (SFF) to surrender or face early retaliation.

He disclosed through a spokesman he will not fly Wednesday to New York to address the United Nations General Assembly as scheduled. Last week he vowed nothing would stop him from making the trip.

Botulism Death Probes Pushed

DETROIT (AP)—Federal and state analysts pushed their investigations Tuesday of the botulism poisoning blamed for the deaths of four persons after they had eaten smoked whitefish.

The Detroit laboratory of the federal Food and Drug Administration, preparing to study samples from Michigan of the smoked fish, said it was not possible to predict when a determination could be made.

Deaths of two persons in Tennessee and two in Michigan during a six-day period led to the FDA investigation and separate inquiries in both states.

H. J. Dornbos & Bros., Grand Haven, Mich., fish packer which produces smoked whitefish for sale in a vacuum-sealed plastic bag, ordered all its products removed from distribution.

The plant also halted its own operations pending results of official inquiries in Michigan and Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Edgren, of Venice, Calif., embrace their son, Paul, 17, whom they had mourned as dead. Another boy who had taken Paul's motorcycle from its parking place at Venice High School was killed in an accident. A neighbor and relative viewed the body and said the dead boy appeared to be Paul. Mrs. Edgren collapsed when she was given the news. Then Paul returned home from his part-time job—to a scene of rejoicing tempered by the knowledge that somewhere another couple was now experiencing the same grief they had known. (AP Photofax)

Valachi Puts Finger On Key N.Y. Mobsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators on Tuesday got the names and numbers of key figures in the New York underworld, and informer Joseph Valachi told them the manpower of the New York mobs runs into the thousands.

Valachi sat silently smoking cigarettes as a New York police investigator traced the hierarchy of the secret crime brotherhood called Cosa Nostra on five rogues' gallery charts—complete with pictures.

Valachi told of 14 years as an underworld loan shark, and said he won a reputation as "the best Shylock around."

And he testified labor racketeers kept unions out of a dress shop in which he held an interest.

There were 356 names on the charts of Cosa Nostra's five "families" in New York, and almost every entry was marked with an asterisk—meaning the man was identified by Valachi.

"The ones there's a star on are the ones I know," Valachi told the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Valachi's government guards clamped stiff new security measures on the Senate caucus room as the informer—said to be one of the underworld's most-wanted men—spent his fourth day on the witness stand.

Chief U.S. Marshal James McShane said the FBI received telephoned tips in Washington and New York, saying a bomb would be planted in the hearing room, and warning that several spectators would seek to shoot Valachi.

The underworld is said to have posted a $100,000 reward for the murder of Valachi, who turned on Cosa Nostra fearing he had been marked for death as an informer.

600 Billion Dollar Output Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's top economic expert expressed confidence Tuesday that, despite some slackening off in the past couple of months, the national output will crack the $600-billion mark by early next year.

And that will be a boon to the consumer, said Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, because "as the economy improves the consumer improves."

Heller's forecast was made in light of the prediction for the current quarter that before the year's end the annual level of all goods and services produced will reach $592 billion to $594 billion.

U.N. Mission Will Go To S. Viet Nam

UNITED NATION, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly agreed Tuesday to the immediate dispatch of a fact-finding mission to South Viet Nam to look into alleged ill-treatment of Buddhists.

The unanimous consent came without a formal vote after behind-the-scenes talks had succeeded in getting the Soviet Union to withdraw a counter proposal which had blocked action Monday.

Under the agreed plan, Assembly President Carlos Asoa-Rodriguez of Venezuela will appoint an unspecified number of U. N. members to carry out the inquiry.

Chiang Expects Peking Purge

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek said Tuesday that Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung is planning a big purge of all party elements opposing his split with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The elder son of President Chiang Kai-shek declared in an interview that the Peking-Moscow rift has spread confusion among Chinese Communists and has affected the morale of the armed forces.

Chiang, who recently returned from a visit to the United States, is minister without portfolio in the Chinese Nationalist Cabinet and is deputy secretary-general of the National Security Council.

In these positions, the younger Chiang keeps in touch with intelligence reports from the mainland.

On occasion, the reports have been shown to be accurate. For example, the Nationalists announced that Mao would step down as president of Red China before the decision was announced in Peking in December of 1958.

JFK Disclosure Of Wheat Deal Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—High administration sources said Tuesday the United States is on the verge of selling more than $300-million worth of wheat to Russia and East European Communist countries.

President Kennedy is expected to announce a grain sale arrangement shortly, perhaps at his news conference Wednesday afternoon, the sources said.

The White House announced late Tuesday the President is delaying his news conference by two hours—strengthening speculation that he might announce at that time his decision on sale of the wheat.

The White House said that Kennedy will meet with newsmen at 5 p.m. EST, instead of 3 o'clock, as specified earlier. It did nothing to confirm or deny that a decision on wheat might be disclosed at the conference.

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked the reason for the time change and replied: "It's more convenient for the President's schedule."

The schedule is pretty much blank, as officially announced. The Soviets were reported to have shown interest in buying some $250-million worth of the grain, with Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria bidding for another $60 million.

However, after Tuesday morning's weekly breakfast of Democratic congressional leaders at the White House, Senate leader Mike Mansfield said, "To the best of my knowledge, no firm offer" has been made by any of the Communist countries to purchase U.S. wheat or other grains.

The Montana Democrat suggested to newsmen that Kennedy would like some "initiative" from appropriate congressional committees and farm organizations before making up his mind. Mansfield was vague about the nature of initiatives he had in mind.

Killer Storm Spins Away From Cuba

Big Hurricane's Northeast Course Eases U.S. Threat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora regained strength Tuesday night but the Weather Bureau said the storm which scoured Haiti and eastern Cuba offered no further threat to the United States East Coast, western Cuba and Central America.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora, leaving a trail of death and destruction in the Caribbean, bore down Tuesday on sparsely-populated islands in the southern Bahamas.

The eye of the hurricane moved out of battered and flooded Cuba and into the Atlantic where it could be expected again to pick up in intensity. High winds and torrential rains continued in Cuba.

The northeast course Flora took eased the threat to Florida and the rest of the U.S. mainland.

Gale force squalls were forecast for the island of Hispaniola, shared by the Dominican Republic and storm-wrecked Haiti.

No previous hurricane hit Haiti and Cuba with such ferocity, the U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami said. Haitian officials estimated 4,000 persons may have been killed in Haiti and said two-fifths of that Negro republic was in ruins.

Two U. S. Sailors Killed

Nine persons were killed in Jamaica, south of Cuba; 11 in Cuba; two American sailors at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and 17 on the island of Tobago, off Venezuela.

For five days Flora spun inside Cuba—an unprecedented time for any hurricane in one area. Destruction was so severe that Cuba's seven-million residents were placed on half rations of all foods, including beef. A 5,000-ton shipment of coffee beans was headed from Brazil under an agreement with the Soviet Union.

At least half of the island nation's crops of rice, cotton and sugar was wiped out, said Carlos Rodriguez, president of the Agrarian Reform Institute. Sugar prices jumped the limit in New York.

All domestic air line flights were cancelled in Cuba.

Castro Surveys Damage

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro was in the eastern provinces of Oriente and Camaguey which are major agricultural areas, assessing the damage. Havana Radio, monitored here, said he narrowly escaped drowning.

The Miami Weather Bureau warned residents of the picturesque Acklins and Crooked islands in the southeastern Bahamas to take immediate precautions against powerful winds and high tides. The eye of the storm was expected to pass over or near those islands, inhabited mostly by commercial fishermen and their families.

Little protection was available to island residents. Their homes are mainly flimsy wooden structures.

Council Votes Liturgy Reform

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council gave overwhelming approval Tuesday to reform proposals for simplifying the Mass and putting more emphasis on preaching in the Roman Catholic Church.

The council fathers marked their ballots with Latin "placet" (it pleases me) or "no placet" (it does not please me) on five of a series of 19 amendments to the liturgy, the form of public worship.

The draft on the liturgy was discussed for three weeks during the council's opening session last fall. Four of the amendments were passed by overwhelming majorities. The results of the fifth ballot have not been tabulated.

The liturgical reforms were presented on behalf of a special drafting commission by Bishop Jesus Enciso Viana of Majorca. He emphasized that in every case the changes were designed to provide greater freedom in public worship rather than imposing one uniform rule throughout the church.

For example, he said the proposals would allow the use of modern languages or permit the entire Mass to continue to be celebrated in the traditional Latin.

Ben Bella's Battle Report Says 10 Slain

Algerian President Calls Off Plans For Flying Trip To U.N.

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—The Algerian army fought three battles Tuesday with Moroccan troops on the Algerian-Moroccan border, well-informed sources reported.

President Ahmed Ben Bella announced earlier in a news conference that Algerian troops had fought a bloody battle against "uncontrolled elements," killing 10 of them.

The 10 enemy dead referred to by Ben Bella were all Moroccan nationals, the source said.

The informed source said the opposition forces were definitely Moroccan, but this early report did not specify whether they were members of Moroccan regular army units.

Ben Bella, in the news conference, said that in the skirmish Algerian soldiers had burned five or six trucks which bore Moroccan license plates.

The fighting took place in Algerian territory some 40 miles southwest of Colomb Bechar, situated 600 miles southwest of Algiers, according to the source.

Ben Bella Tuesday pledged there will be "no discussions, no horse trading" with insurgent Berbers seeking his overthrow from a mountain stronghold.

Ben Bella spoke at a news conference on his return from Bougie, one of the cities in the Kabylia region, where Berber tribesmen have revolted against his one-man, one-party rule.

While in Bougie, 184 miles east of Algiers, he issued a virtual ultimatum to the political and military leaders of the clandestine Socialist Forces Front (SFF) to surrender or face early retaliation.

He disclosed through a spokesman he will not fly Wednesday to New York to address the United Nations General Assembly as scheduled. Last week he vowed nothing would stop him from making the trip.

Botulism Death Probes Pushed

The Detroit laboratory of the federal Food and Drug Administration, preparing to study samples from Michigan of the smoked fish, said it was not possible to predict when a determination could be made.

Deaths of two persons in Tennessee and two in Michigan during a six-day period led to the FDA investigation and separate inquiries in both states.

H. J. Dornbos & Bros., Grand Haven, Mich., fish packer which produces smoked whitefish for sale in a vacuum-sealed plastic bag, ordered all its products removed from distribution.

The plant also halted its own operations pending results of official inquiries in Michigan and Tennessee.

Valachi Puts Finger On Key N.Y. Mobsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators on Tuesday got the names and numbers of key figures in the New York underworld, and informer Joseph Valachi told them the manpower of the New York mobs runs into the thousands.

Valachi sat silently smoking cigarettes as a New York police investigator traced the hierarchy of the secret crime brotherhood called Cosa Nostra on five rogues' gallery charts—complete with pictures.

Valachi told of 14 years as an underworld loan shark, and said he won a reputation as "the best Shylock around."

And he testified labor racketeers kept unions out of a dress shop in which he held an interest.

There were 356 names on the charts of Cosa Nostra's five "families" in New York, and almost every entry was marked with an asterisk—meaning the man was identified by Valachi.

"The ones there's a star on are the ones I know," Valachi told the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Valachi's government guards clamped stiff new security measures on the Senate caucus room as the informer—said to be one of the underworld's most-wanted men—spent his fourth day on the witness stand.

Chief U.S. Marshal James McShane said the FBI received telephoned tips in Washington and New York, saying a bomb would be planted in the hearing room, and warning that several spectators would seek to shoot Valachi.

The underworld is said to have posted a $100,000 reward for the murder of Valachi, who turned on Cosa Nostra fearing he had been marked for death as an informer.

600 Billion Dollar Output Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's top economic expert expressed confidence Tuesday that, despite some slackening off in the past couple of months, the national output will crack the $600-billion mark by early next year.

And that will be a boon to the consumer, said Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, because "as the economy improves the consumer improves."

Heller's forecast was made in light of the prediction for the current quarter that before the year's end the annual level of all goods and services produced will reach $592 billion to $594 billion.

U.N. Mission Will Go To S. Viet Nam

UNITED NATION, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly agreed Tuesday to the immediate dispatch of a fact-finding mission to South Viet Nam to look into alleged ill-treatment of Buddhists.

The unanimous consent came without a formal vote after behind-the-scenes talks had succeeded in getting the Soviet Union to withdraw a counter proposal which had blocked action Monday.

Under the agreed plan, Assembly President Carlos Asoa Rodriguez of Venezuela will appoint an unspecified number of U.N. members to carry out the inquiry.

Chiang Expects Peking Purge

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo said Tuesday that Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung is planning a big purge of all party elements opposing his split with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The elder son of President Chiang Kai-shek declared in an interview that the Peking-Moscow rift has spread confusion among Chinese Communists and has affected the morale of the armed forces.

Chiang, who recently returned from a visit to the United States, is minister without portfolio in the Chinese Nationalist Cabinet and is deputy secretary-general of the National Security Council.

In these positions, the younger Chiang keeps in touch with intelligence reports from the mainland.

On occasion, the reports have been shown to be accurate. For example, the Nationalists announced that Mao would step down as president of Red China before the decision was announced in Peking in December of 1958.

Father Gives Viet Nam's First Lady Cold Shoulder

NEW YORK (AP)—The father solution to the South Viet Nam crisis is a total change in government.

"This government cannot be reformed," Chuong said as he arrived at the Harvard Club on 44th street just off Fifth Avenue for a luncheon with the American Friends of Viet Nam.

Mrs. Nhu was half a dozen blocks away, closeted in a hotel suite with a South Viet Nam representative to the United Nations, Dinh Diem.

However, Chuong said he might try to see his granddaughter, Mrs. Nhu's 18-year-old daughter, Le Thu, who is accompanying her mother on a speaking tour.

Chuong has described Mrs. Nhu, 38, as power hungry, and criticized the ruling Diem family for the suicide burning of Buddhists in South Viet Nam. He told newsmen that the only

JFK Disclosure Of Wheat Deal Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—High administration sources said Tuesday the United States is on the verge of selling more than $300-million worth of wheat to Russia and East European Communist countries.

President Kennedy is expected to announce a grain sale arrangement shortly, perhaps at his news conference Wednesday afternoon, the sources said.

The White House announced late Tuesday the President is delaying his news conference by two hours—strengthening speculation that he might announce at that time his decision on sale of the wheat.

The White House said that Kennedy will meet with newsmen at 5 p.m. EST, instead of 3 o'clock, as specified earlier. It did nothing to confirm or deny that a decision on wheat might be disclosed at the conference.

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked the reason for the time change and replied: "It's more convenient for the President's schedule."

The schedule is pretty much blank, as officially announced.

The Soviets were reported to have shown interest in buying some $250-million worth of the grain, with Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria bidding for another $60 million.

However, after Tuesday morning's weekly breakfast of Democratic congressional leaders at the White House, Senate leader Mike Mansfield said, "To the best of my knowledge, no firm offer" has been made by any of the Communist countries to purchase U.S. wheat or other grains.

The Montana Democrat suggested to newsmen that Kennedy would like some "initiative" from appropriate congressional committees and farm organizations before making up his mind. Mansfield was vague about the nature of initiatives he had in mind.

Council Votes Liturgy Reform

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council gave overwhelming approval Tuesday to reform proposals for simplifying the Mass and putting more emphasis on preaching in the Roman Catholic Church.

The council fathers marked their ballots with Latin "placet" (it pleases me) or "non placet" (it does not please me) on five of a series of 19 amendments to the liturgy, the form of public worship.

The draft on the liturgy was discussed for three weeks during the council's opening session last fall. Four of the amendments were passed by overwhelming majorities. The results of the fifth ballot have not been tabulated.

The liturgical reforms were presented on behalf of a special drafting commission by Bishop Jesus Enciso Viana of Majorca. He emphasized that in every case the changes were designed to provide greater freedom in public worship rather than imposing one uniform rule throughout the church.

For example, he said the proposals would allow the use of modern languages or permit the entire Mass to continue to be celebrated in the traditional Latin.

Big Hurricane's Northeast Course Eases U.S. Threat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora regained strength Tuesday night but the Weather Bureau said the storm which scourged Haiti and eastern Cuba offered no further threat to the United States East Coast, western Cuba and Central America.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora, leaving a trail of death and destruction in the Caribbean, bore down Tuesday on sparsely-populated islands in the southern Bahamas.

The eye of the hurricane moved out of battered and flooded Cuba and into the Atlantic where it could be expected again to pick up in intensity. High winds and torrential rains continued in Cuba.

The northeast course Flora took eased the threat to Florida and the rest of the U.S. mainland.

Gale force squalls were forecast for the island of Hispaniola, shared by the Dominican Republic and storm-wrecked Haiti.

No previous hurricane hit Haiti and Cuba with such ferocity, the U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami said. Haitian officials estimated 4,000 persons may have been killed in Haiti and said two-fifths of that Negro republic was in ruins.

Two U. S. Sailors Killed

Nine persons were killed in Jamaica, south of Cuba; 11 in Cuba; two American sailors at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and 17 on the island of Tobago, off Venezuela. For five days Flora spun inside Cuba—an unprecedented time for any hurricane in one area. Destruction was so severe that Cuba's seven-million residents were placed on half rations of all foods, including beef. A 5,000-ton shipment of coffee beans was headed from Brazil under an agreement with the Soviet Union.

At least half of the island nation's crops of rice, cotton and sugar was wiped out, said Carlos Rodriguez, president of the Agrarian Reform Institute. Sugar prices jumped the limit in New York.

All domestic air line flights were cancelled in Cuba.

Castro Survives Damage

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro was in the eastern provinces of Oriente and Camaguey, which are major agricultural areas, assessing the damage. Havana radio, monitored here, said he narrowly escaped drowning.

The Miami Weather Bureau warned residents of the picturesque Acklins and Crooked islands in the southeastern Bahamas to take immediate precautions against powerful winds and high tides. The eye of the storm was expected to pass over or near those islands, inhabited mostly by commercial fishermen and their families.

Little protection was available to island residents. Their homes are mainly flimsy wooden structures.

Guns, Threat Of Mob Violence Marked Purported Bob Kennedy - Barnett Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talk of guns and the threat of mob violence punctuated a purported phone conversation between Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett over the admission of James H. Meredith to the University of Mississippi, Newsweek magazine reported Tuesday.

The conversation took place just before the campus rioting that left two dead and hundreds injured in September 1962, the magazine said in its Oct. 14 edition.

"Nobody would say where it came from," Newsweek said, "but last week a few people had their hands on a transcript of some of the telephone calls" between Kennedy and Barnett.

Edwin O. Guthman, Justice Department information officer, asked about the source and accuracy of the transcript, had no comment other than to refer to Newsweek's statement that "the Justice Department, which said it was mystified as to how such a record came to light, did not deny its accuracy."

"That's right," Guthman said. "That's all I'm going to say about it."

In Jackson, Miss., Barnett could not be reached for comment. His office said "he won't be available all day."

Here is some of the dialogue Newsweek said took place as the officials discussed the impending arrival of Meredith and U.S. marshals:

Kennedy: "I will send the marshals that I have available up there in Memphis and I expect there will be about 25 or 30 of them and they will come with Mr. Meredith and they will arrive wherever the gate is and I will have the head marshal pull a gun and I will have the rest of them have their hands on their guns and their holsters. And then as I understand it he will go through and get in and you will make sure that law and order is preserved and that no harm will be done to Mr. (Chief Marshal James) McShane and Mr. Meredith."

Barnett: "Oh, yes, general, I was under the impression that they were all going to pull their guns. This could be very embarrassing. We got a big crowd here and if one pulls his gun and we all turn it would be very embarrassing. Isn't it possible to have them (the marshals) all pull their guns?"

Kennedy: "I hate to have them all draw their guns as I think it could create harsh feelings."

Barnett: "They must all draw their guns. Then they should point their guns at us and then we could step aside."

At one point in a later conversation, Kennedy told Barnett:

"I think it is silly going through this whole facade of your standing there; our people drawing guns; your stepping aside. To me it is dangerous and I think it has gone beyond the stage of politics."

Barnett: "You understand we have had no agreement."

Kennedy: "That's correct."

Barnett: "I am just telling you—everybody thinks we are compromising."

Kennedy: "I am just telling you that we are arriving and we are arriving with force."

Then Newsweek described a later conversation during which Barnett indicated he was apprehensive about gathering crowds.

Barnett: "General, I'm worried. I'm nervous. I tell you. You don't realize what's going on. There are several thousand people in here, in cars, trucks, several hundred are lined up on the streets where they are supposed to land. We don't know these people. We can't control people like that. A lot of people are going to get killed. It would be embarrassing to me."

Kennedy: "I'll send them (Meredith and the marshals) back."

Spaak Calls On U.N. To Extend Harmony Spirit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak made an emotional appeal to the U.N. General Assembly Tuesday to carry forward the present spirit of East-West harmony until it embraces all the world.

Spaak, the "Mr. Europe" of international politics, said that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had become "an apostle of peaceful co-existence" and that his idea that war has become avoidable "thus assumes enormous responsibilities, even in the Communist world."

Spaak, 64, former secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, added that "it seems to me that it would be a terrible and unforgivable fault" to discourage Khrushchev, and also a "great sign of wavering in our own convictions if we were not able to pick up the challenge thus loyally extended to us."

He stressed that the spirit of East-West harmony must not be limited to relations between the countries of NATO and the Warsaw Pact.

"A policy which is good for Europe is also good for the rest of the world," he said. "If, after having so often given the world cause for anxiety and apprehension, Europe today enters upon the path of wisdom, this good example should be followed by other continents."

Spaak advanced as specific proposals for consideration now the signing of an East-West non-aggression pact and the staging of

Appeals Court Reopens Negro Children's Case

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The Maryland Court of Appeals ordered Tuesday that further proceedings be held for two Cambridge juveniles sent to reform schools for their part in civil rights demonstrations last summer.

The state's highest court said the whole matter should be reviewed in the light of conditions as they now exist in Cambridge.

It said while the disorderly conduct shown by the juveniles "was sufficient to support the finding of delinquency, the conduct of these appellants, standing alone, was not so fundamentally wrong as to require permanent treatment, as distinguished from temporary custodial care."

The two Negro children, Reva Dinez White and Dwight Cromwell, both 15, have been in reform schools since Judge E. McMaster Duer sent them there last June 10 during the height of civil rights disturbances in Cambridge.

The seven-judge Court of Appeals said they apparently were confined for their own protection because of public demonstrations which were later suspended under orders of National Guard officers occupying the town. The town remains under such occupation.

The court said Judge Duer erred in admitting into evidence written reports from school teachers which purported to show the children were disobedient, incorrigible and beyond the control of their parents.

Fireworks Maker Arrested In D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced Tuesday the arrest of Bernard J. Semel, 38, a Washington fireworks manufacturer, on charges he violated the ban on interstate transportation of fireworks.

Assateague Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill calling for development of Assateague Island in three different communities, with areas in each for private ownership, was introduced Tuesday by Rep. Rogers C.B. Morton, R-Md. A commission would be set up to plan the development.

Under the bill, the 32-mile long island off the coast of Worcester County, Md., would have a national seashore area, a Maryland state park, a northern community featuring a cultural center, a central community with sports fields, swimming pools and tennis courts, and a southern community for conservation, wildlife and fishing.

The planning commission would have one year to complete its work.

Owners of Assateague Island property on Jan. 1, 1963, would have priority to acquire property available for private ownership and development. No one would be allowed more than three acres. The bill would not limit and would not interfere with authority of Maryland or Virginia to permit or to regulate shell fishing in island waters.

Appeals Court Reopens Negro Children's Case

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The Maryland Court of Appeals ordered Tuesday that further proceedings be held for two Cambridge juveniles sent to reform schools for their part in civil rights demonstrations last summer.

The state's highest court said the whole matter should be reviewed in the light of conditions as they now exist in Cambridge.

It said while the disorderly conduct shown by the juveniles "was sufficient to support the finding of delinquency, the conduct of these appellants, standing alone, was not so fundamentally wrong as to require permanent treatment, as distinguished from temporary custodial care."

The two Negro children, Reva Dinez White and Dwight Cromwell, both 15, have been in reform schools since Judge E. McMaster Duer sent them there last June 10 during the height of civil rights disturbances in Cambridge.

The seven-judge Court of Appeals said they apparently were confined for their own protection because of public demonstrations which were later suspended under orders of National Guard officers occupying the town. The town remains under such occupation.

The court said Judge Duer erred in admitting into evidence written reports from school teachers which purported to show the children were disobedient, incorrigible and beyond the control of their parents.

The court said the United States and Canada as a means of making impossible "any classic war by surprise—or even any surprise war."

Fireworks Maker Arrested In D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced Tuesday the arrest of Bernard J. Semel, 38, a Washington fireworks manufacturer, on charges he violated the ban on interstate transportation of fireworks.

The FBI, asserting Semel has been described as "the father of the plastic cherry bomb," said that prior to establishing his Washington plant he had manufactured fireworks in Brandywine, Md.

Assateague Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill calling for development of Assateague Island in three different communities, with areas in each for private ownership, was introduced Tuesday by Rep. Rogers C.B. Morton, R-Md. A commission would be set up to plan the development.

Under the bill, the 32-mile long island off the coast of Worcester County, Md., would have a national seashore area, a Maryland state park, a northern community featuring a cultural center, a central community with sports fields, swimming pools and tennis courts, and a southern community for conservation, wildlife and fishing.

The planning commission would have one year to complete its work.

Owners of Assateague Island property on Jan. 1, 1963, would have priority to acquire property available for private ownership and development. No one would be allowed more than three acres. The bill would not limit and would not interfere with authority of Maryland or Virginia to permit or to regulate shell fishing in island waters.

Confidence Man Guilty Of Flim Flamming Widow

BALTIMORE (AP) — James F. Smith, a good story teller, a 69-year-old widow believed him and gave him $5,250. A jury didn't.

After listening to Smith's long tale of flim flamming women under the influence of a mysterious Danny Collins, a jury took only 15 minutes to convict Smith. Judge Charles D. Harris held off sentencing for a probation report.

Mrs. Elizabeth Horsman, the widow, told of Smith's coming to her home last April. Within two days she gave him $5,250.

She said he told her a tale of woe. His wife and child had been killed in an airplane crash. He was robbed of $1,800 and he needed money to pay employees of his construction firm.

Smith, who is 40 years old, in his turn on the witness stand admitted he borrowed the money. But he said he did it only to trap Collins.

Collins, Smith related, started him in the confidence racket in Pittsburgh in 1957. He rarely saw Collins thereafter. Danny would leave him instructions on the next victim and an advance of $200 in bus station lockers or between pages of a phone book. Smith would leave Danny's share the same way.

Police gave Smith a chance to come up with the mysterious Collins. They moved him from jail to a hotel and ran a newspaper ad asking "Danny" to communicate with him there. Some did call, but the conversation was garbled and police could not understand it.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three judges will announce at a dinner Nov. 14 their selection of Maryland's outstanding young scientist of the year.

Evaluating the achievements are Dr. Ralph D. Bennett of the Martin Co., Dr. Alvin Nason of Johns Hopkins University, and Dr. John W. Townsend of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt. The award of $500 by the Maryland Academy of Science is open to Maryland scientists under the age of 35.

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — City kids know what a lamb and pig look like from their picture books. They're going to have a chance to touch them at the Eastern National Livestock Show next month. On the spur of the moment last year, the show set up a kiddies' barnyard.

"I was surprised to find out that so many city children have never seen farm animals, much less touch them," said Jack I. Matthews, manager of the show.

So he is arranging ahead of time to have a lot more baby farm animals in the barnyard during the Nov. 16-21 show.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — More than 300 women leaders are expected in Annapolis next Tuesday for a Governor's Conference of the Maryland Women's Committee for Civil Rights.

The conference in the House of Delegates chamber will be addressed by Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant U.S. secretary of labor. Gov. Tawes will preside.

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — The Maryland Tuna Co. is going to send a plane over Chesapeake Bay to see if there might be a school of tuna there with some commercial value.

Mother Of Five Reports Rape

BALTIMORE (AP) — A mother set out near midnight Monday looking for a drug store to buy a feeding formula for her 6-week-old baby. A taxi driver directed her to the only all-night pharmacy in this city of nearly one million people.

The tearful, distraught 30-year-old mother of five told police early Tuesday of being raped at knife-point in her own car after leaving the drugstore.

Baltimore police records show the drug store is in a district with the highest crime rate in the city.

More than half of all vegetables and fruits moving to wholesale markets go by trucks.

300 Guardsmen Leave Cambridge; 100 Remain

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — About 300 National Guard troops were sent home Tuesday, leaving a contingent of roughly 100 men to guard against any further outbreaks of trouble arising from this city's racial problems.

Lt. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, ordered the reduction in the forces. He said, however, that a battalion of about 400 men would remain on standby alert.

"Everything seems to be quiet and orderly," Gen. Reckord said, "and I feel we are justified in reducing the strength of the guard at this time."

There have been no Negro demonstrations since rejection Oct. 1 of an equal accommodations charter amendment by the voters. Quiet negotiations have been carried on by Negroes and whites the past week.

The 300 guardsmen who left Tuesday were members of the 2nd Battalion of the 115th Infantry, which arrived here during the weekend. They had relieved an equal number of troops who had been on duty last week.

The 100 guardsmen remaining behind will be relieved by another 100-man contingent this weekend.

The original home of the honey-bee was southern Asia, probably including the eastern shores of the Mediterranean Sea.

Negro Women Found Guilty

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — Two Negro women, arrested in a Queen Annes County restaurant last May 19, were convicted on trespass charges Tuesday by Circuit Judge Thomas J. Keating Jr.

Judge Keating suspended fines of $50 and costs for each of the women and placed them on probation for six months.

The defendants, Gloria Wilmae Pritchett, 26, of Centreville, and Anna S. Deedon, 25, of Wilmington, Del., pleaded innocent. They were represented by Tucker R. Dearing of Baltimore.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special) — A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma — the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in any tablets called BRONITIN.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is: free breathing is restored, tension eased and so fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep. Get BRONITIN — available at all drug stores without prescription.

How Women Can Lose 2 to 7 Lbs. of Bloating 'Water-Weight' That Causes Pre-Menstrual Miseries

New Discovery Tested By Nurses On Themselves Also Relieves Swelling, Pelvic Pressure, Dizzy Spells, Pain and Its Moodiness, Nervous Tension. An Entirely New and Medically Proven Formula.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Doctors who are specialists in women's ailments have now discovered that several days before a woman's period her system often stores up an abnormal accumulation of water—from 2 to 7 lbs. This causes body tissues to swell and results in a sudden gain of weight and abdominal puffiness.

It also causes breast soreness, headache, depression, nervous tension and dizzy spells.

But now science has developed astonishing medical help—a new tablet called 'Trendar'. Trendar helps prevent the build-up of harmful excess water and so promptly eliminates the bloating weight. It relieves headache, cramps and accompanying nervous tension, irritability, depression, and dizzy spells both before and during periods—in a way no pain reliever alone possibly can.

Trendar Tablets have been thoroughly tested by hundreds of Registered Nurses on themselves. Proven safe and effective when taken as directed. Now obtainable without prescription at any drug counter. Buy Trendar at once!

Monday afternoon, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris sentenced Walter Babb Clevenger, Keyser, to two 18 month terms in prison but suspended the sentence and placed him on three-year probation.

Clevenger was ordered by Judge Harris to be of good behavior, particularly in refraining from use of intoxicants. It was reported to the court by James Lewis, state probation officer, in a pre-sentence check of the man's background that he is married and has several children.

The grand jury continued its deliberations yesterday with various officials being called to testify.

A Spring Gap man who is better known for his roadside display of woodwork articles on Route 51 Monday ended 37 years of service with the Western Maryland Railway.

He is Perry A. Ritchie, who joined the railroad August 6, 1926 as a fireman. He became an engineer April 15, 1937.

In his spare time, Ritchie constructed the intricate windmill, bird boxes and other objects that are attractively displayed across the highway from his home.

One of his prized works of handicraft was a wooden model of a 1200 series steam locomotive which he presented to the division office.

It was a labor of love for Ritchie as he said Monday that he regarded the 1200's as the best locomotive, steam or diesel.

The big Mallet-type engine with high drivers would "really move when you wanted to," he pointed out.

The 1200s were used by the Western Maryland in fast freight service.

Ritchie is married to the former Catherine Wince of Springfield and they have eight children living, all in this section. Lester, Perry, Lloyd and James Ritchie, Mrs. Helen Kelly, Mrs. James Clayton, Mrs. Melvin Vanmeter and Miss Urna Ritchie.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a hunch that letter from the unhappy widow who moved in with her children was written by my mother-in-law. I'd like to present the case of a daughter-in-law who is equally unhappy.

Do widowed mothers realize when they are invited to move in that they are being offered a home, and not the position of Chairman of the Board?

My mother-in-law has been with us only five months and already I am developing ulcers. She tells the children what to wear, how to speak and with whom to associate. She still calls my husband "Sonny" which burns me up — and she has taken to making special dishes for him. According to her, "Nobody cooks like a boy's mother."

My husband and I used to get along beautifully. Now we are arguing — and all the arguments are about his mother. So you see Ann, she is not the only one who is miserable. Now, how do I tell her to move without alienating my husband forever?—ALSO MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: When a

TUSCOLA, Ill. (AP) — Nurses in Jarman Memorial Hospital were kept busy issuing pills and pillows to seven little patients—all name Reinhart.

All seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Reinhart were admitted together, to be treated for upper respiratory infections. Two youth beds were added to the hospital room which ordinarily holds five patients, but despite so much company Stephen, 9 got homesick, nurses reported.

The others hospitalized were Nancy, 3; Otto, 4; Barbara, 6; Beverly, 8; Gerald, 11; and Thomas, 12.

third party — be it mother, mother-in-law, uncle, cousin or whoever — presents a threat to a marriage, the third party must be removed.

Inviting your mother-in-law to live with you was a mistake. The sooner it is admitted — and rectified — the better for all of you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been dating a man for almost a year. We plan to be married in a few months.

My fiancée lives at home with his folks. His father had a house guest for several days and the guest shared my fiancée's bedroom. Yesterday the guest left and my boy friend told me something which has made me a nervous wreck. This guest was supposedly invited to stay with them and recuperate from an operation in an army hospital, but the truth is that he was recently discharged from a leprosy hospital.

I love my boy friend and I want to marry him but he has been living with a leper for a week and seeing me at the same time. Maybe I have already caught the loathsome disease. Perhaps I have already passed it on to members of my family. Please tell me what to do. But don't print my name, initials or city because my friends and family will be just as panicky as I am.—NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: Relax. Hansen's disease (they don't call it leprosy any more) is one of the least communicable diseases known to medical science. Many wives who visited their husbands in the leprosarium in Carville, Louisiana, have tried to get the disease so they, too, might be incarcerated — but not one has succeeded.

No patient is released from a leprosarium in an infectious state. The man who shared your fiancée's room was probably less of a threat to his health than most of the people he encounters during his working day.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 16-year-old girl who is going with a very nice guy. Ted and I are not going steady — just steadily.

Good Grooming Is A Private Affair

In my mailbag recently I found this message: "A few Sundays ago, a lady appeared at our church services wearing a muumuu and a head full of rollers. She covered the curlers with one of those net caps, with the pink strings tied in a bow under her chin, but naturally the curlers showed through the veiling. It seemed to me she looked a little out of place."

The phrase "a little out of place" describes my reader as far more charitable than most people. The lady in church undoubtedly looked ridiculous. The wonder is that she didn't feel as uncomfortable as she made others feel who were watching her.

Only one woman, to my knowledge, has been able to get away with wearing roller curlers in public. Actually she doesn't have to reveal her secret at all — because the curlers don't show — but the woman is a show business personality and telling about her curlers (and getting laughs in response) is one of the ways she expresses her "image." It's part of the act.

She contrives huge head-coverings to wear over her curlers—outlandish hats, giant turbans, fancy scarfs. She has made them into her own personal trademark — with a decided flair, because she is who she is. Most women couldn't (and wouldn't) copy her crazy hats for all the roller curlers in the world.

Most women don't have to. She does. Her trademark was born of necessity, when daytime appearances made it difficult for her to find the time to prepare for evening performances. She certainly would (if she could) keep her grooming the private affair it should be.

Last week Ted bought me a ring with a small diamond as a symbol of our friendship. When my square old man saw it he hit the roof. He said that where he comes from, a ring with a diamond, no matter how small, means engagement and he ordered me to give it back.

Several of my girl friends are wearing rings and I don't see any reason why I shouldn't be allowed to. Do you?—BABY FOREVER

DEAR BABY: Yes, I see one darned good reason. Your father doesn't approve of it. Now give it back.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Galvanized Steel Claims Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — A one-time minor member of the steel family has become one of its brightest offspring.

The offspring is galvanized steel—cold rolled sheet steel base with the high corrosion protection of a low-cost zinc coating.

Steelways, publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, says it was only a few years ago that galvanized steel became an important product.

For example, between 1951 and 1961, shipments of galvanized steel to the auto industry rose by 798 per cent — 34,743 tons to 311,971 tons a year.

Nola, a grade Holstein owned by Brinker, placed third by producing 1,650 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of butterfat.

Other cows in the top 10 are those owned by Donald and Blair Brooke, Rawlings, and Nat Workman, RD 1, Frostburg.

His letter noted that the commissioners have promised the Board of Education to be out of the Franklin Street location by next summer.

The garage is located on a part of the 25-acre tract upon which a new North End Junior High School is being constructed. The George Construction Company was awarded this contract August 20 on a low bid of $1,767,000.

Second place producer was Sally, an artificial registered Holstein, owned by James E. Miltenberger, of RD 1, Ridgeley, which produced 1,940 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of butterfat.

Nola, a grade Holstein owned by Brinker, placed third by producing 1,650 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of butterfat.

Other cows in the top 10 are those owned by Donald and Blair Brooke, Rawlings, and Nat Workman, RD 1, Frostburg.

The total number of cows on test during September was 347, said Mr. Miller.

Democrats Plan Events

The bidding:

Opening lead: Seven of ♠ Declarer's technique was decidedly faulty in today's hand. At the price of a mere extra trick, he had available to him a safety play which would have assured his three no trump contract.

West opened the seven of spades which was taken by the dummy's ace. Declarer observed that he had eight top tricks in clubs, diamonds, and spades. The diamond suit offered a favorable prospect for a ninth so, without further ado, South cashed the king of diamonds and then led a small one. When East showed out, declarer's chances went glimmering.

South put up the ace of diamonds and proceeded to run the clubs. He then exited with a diamond to throw West in with the hope that the latter would lead another spade into the king-jack. West shifted to a heart however and, when East got in, a spade shift thru South completed the rout.

North was quick to point out that, had declarer led a small diamond at trick two instead of the king, he would have fared better. The jack is finessed in the closed hand losing to West's queen. The ace of diamonds is cashed later and when East shows out, a finesse can be taken against the ten for the game fulfilling trick.

A still better line of play is available to declarer, since it will succeed against any division of the adverse diamonds. South should cash the ace of diamonds at the second trick, and continue with a small one. When West follows with a spot card, North plays the nine. If this loses to the ten or queen, then the suit must divide three-two and the long diamond will be good.

If West shows out on the first or second diamond, then the king is put up from dummy, and a small diamond is led thru East's queen toward the jack in the closed hand.

Stubborn Woods Fire Is Brought Under Control

A stubborn fire on Piney Mountain across from Red Hill in the west end of the LaVale area burst out of control Monday night and spread over 52 acres before being checked.

The fire started Sunday and burned six acres before being controlled and another two acres yesterday. It was still burning today, but is in check.

Foresters were aided in their efforts by boys from the state forestry camps at Meadow Mountain, above Lonaconing and Green Ridge.

W. A. C. Irwin, district forester, said winds up to 25 miles an hour blew all night and one time, caused the high flames to billow over the workers.

A fresh crew took over yesterday and a road was bulldozed over the rocky terrain to the scene of the fire.

Irwin said the ground where the fire is burning over has little earth and a fire trench cannot be dug. The road has been put in so that jeeps with water tanks can get to the area. Inasmuch as the trench is not possible, the fire line will be wetted down.

Monday's crew included Brooke Bodkin, senior forest supervisor; Jack Brodie, assistant district forester; Harry Hartman, forest supervisor; Owen Robeson, William Slider, Allen Holt, rangers, and Wilson Barclay, road side park supervisor.

Yesterday, Harland Uphole, Floyd Custer, Leroy Meyers, James Fitzpatrick and others along with 13 boys from Meadow Mountain Camp and 16 from Lonaconing Camp members were on the scene.

The boys from Green Ridge were at a fire in the Oldtown area.

Irwin was high in his praise for the work of the forestry camp boys, observing that they do a good job along with the trained forestry department personnel.

Irwin also pointed out that four fires have been fought since the small game hunting season began last Saturday.

He appealed to hunters to take utmost caution in the tinder-dry woods. The district forester pointed out that some hunters burn den trees to scare squirrels out.

Annual Forest Field Day Thursday At Hancock

"People and Timber" will be the theme of the fourth annual Tri-State Forestry Field Day, Thursday, October 10, on the Carl Hull tree farm near Hancock.

Highlights of the program, beginning at 1 p. m., will be an address by H. C. Buckingham of Annapolis, acting director of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks; presentation of $225 in cash prizes in the annual forestry contest sponsored by the Hancock Bank; and awarding of signs and certificates of membership in the American Tree Farm System to a group of landowners from Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Brooks F. Smith, executive vice president of the Hancock Bank and chairman of the field day committee, said people and timber was a most appropriate topic for the meeting because "what happens to our timber resources depends upon what people do. At the same time, timber gives a multitude of benefits to people — raw materials for necessities and comforts of life, also jobs, watershed protection, wildlife habitat, and scenic beauty."

The bank official pointed out the sale of lumber, pulpwood and other forest products brings in $1,250,000 annually to the Hancock trading area.

"This can be sustained indefinitely and greatly increased," he said, "by a continued increase in good forestry practices... action by people. That is why our bank conducts the forestry contest."

Smith will present first and second place prizes to winners in three categories in the contest: reforestation, woodland improvement by removal of inferior types and defective trees, and timber harvesting.

David W. Sowers Jr., of Hancock, chairman of the Maryland Tree Farm Committee, said the nationwide tree farm program is also aimed at encouraging people to action by giving public recognition to woodland owners who are doing a good job of forest conservation. The program is sponsored by the forest industries in cooperation with state and federal forestry organizations and citizens' groups.

To win the tree farm award, landowners must demonstrate to the satisfaction of professional foresters that they are managing their woods in a manner to grow continuous crops of more and better wood.

Sowers will present the awards to new tree farmers from Maryland. John B. Zimmerman of Stoystown, Pa., chairman of the Pennsylvania Tree Farm Committee, will present awards for his state. John Porter, Romney, district forester for the West Virginia Department of Natural Resources, will give out Mountain State Tree Farm awards.

Buckingham, a graduate of the Yale School of Forestry, has had a conservation career of more than 35 years with the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, and is serving in a dual role as state forester and acting director of the department. He has served in all phases of the department's work, including heading up the nursery program, statewide fire protection, and as a district forester. He has been active in professional organizations and societies.

Conway Robinson, farm editor of WBAL, Baltimore, will be master of ceremonies. The invocation will be given by Rev. Wilson T. Dowling, pastor of the Hancock Presbyterian Church.

The general public, particularly woodland owners, is invited to attend.

Following the formal ceremony, a forestry tour of the host tree farm will be led by Hull and Tunis Lyon, assistant district director, Department of Forests and Parks, Hagerstown.

The field day is sponsored by the bank and by the tree farm committees of the three states.

The First Battle of the Somme in 1916 listed more than 1.25 million casualties, 614 thousand of them French and British.

Fantasy For A Very Dark Horse

"Bedlam had broken loose. On the floor George Romney had just moved that the nomination be made unanimous and the tired delegates, worn out by an entire week of hectic politicking, had roared their approval. . . . As the band blared out the catchy tune of 'Billy Boy,' the weary delegates . . . began to fill the aisles with that random shuffle which is the convention dance. It had been a bitter battle, the 1964 Republican Convention."

The Presidential nominee, according to this futuristic account in the August issue of Greater Philadelphia Magazine, is none other than William Warren Scranton, the 46-year-old Governor of Pennsylvania. Scranton is usually named among the four or five likely GOP candidates for the Presidential nomination in 1964. He says he doesn't want it and won't work for it, but the prize could be thrust upon him if the convention deadlocks.

Scranton will be in the public eye today when Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) comes to Hershey, Pa., at Scranton's invitation, for a big party fund-raising dinner. Goldwater is front-runner for the nomination and obviously hopes to make points with Scranton and Pennsylvania's moderate Republicans. Goldwater backers claim their man can win the election without help from the big Eastern industrial states, but they are going to have to get at least some Eastern support to land the nomination.

Reports that Scranton already has moved into the Goldwater camp have been denied by the governor himself. Indeed, he has been accused of teaming up with Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) in a "Stop Goldwater" movement. His control of Pennsylvania's 64 delegate votes (out of 1,308) at next summer's GOP convention could prove decisive in a tight race. A Congressional Quarterly poll of Pennsylvania delegates to the 1960 Republican National Convention, taken last April, showed the following results on the question of the delegates' personal preferences for the 1964 nomination: Goldwater 20, Rockefeller 22, Romney 2, Nixon 4—and only 6 for Scranton. The path of the dark horse is a rocky one, even in friendly territory.

Growth Of Private Schools

After many months spent in surveying the state of U. S. public school education, James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University, has finally arrived at the conclusion that many of our grammar school and high school deficiencies are bound up with a basic inadequacy in prevailing methods of teacher training. The burden of Dr. Conant's most recent report is that our teachers' colleges turn out a human product that, however conversant it may be with the most advanced methods of putting a subject across, is seldom in command of the details and meaning of the subject itself.

The irony of Dr. Conant's criticism is that it adds up to a left-handed commendation of private schools. Coming from Dr. Conant, this is indeed curious. For not so many years ago Dr. Conant was urging that private schools should be abolished on the ground that they were undemocratic institutions. Now, without quite saying so, Dr. Conant has recognized that private schools, which are free to hire teachers who are masters of their subjects rather than masters of a prescribed teachers' college ritual of "methodology," are often in a position to give their pupils a better education than can be had in many public schools.

The Conant criticism of our teacher training is not exactly original, for it comes after a decade of similar objections on the part of such organizations as the Council for Basic Education. Indeed, Sterling M. McMurrin, the former U. S. Commissioner of Education, anticipated the Conant report in several statements following upon his resignation of the top education post in the federal government.

As for the parents in the United States, many of them have been voting for the Conant ideas with their dollars for some time now. One of the most interesting things on the American educational horizon is the sudden spurt in the number of children being sent to private grammar and college preparatory schools. Ten years ago there were some 14,000 private elementary and secondary schools; today, the figure exceeds 17,000. Out of some 50 million grammar and high school students in the country, approximately seven million are in private schools.

Contrary to what is popularly supposed, the growth of the private school movement has very little connection with the integration problem. In certain Southern states parents are receiving state grants which allow them to send their children to schools of their choice. But the big development of the private school has come outside the South, and the reason for it, generally speaking, is parent distrust of prevailing methods of teaching in such things as elementary English.

In Oakland, Calif., for example, parents put up the money last year to start a school, called the Mae Carden Center School, with four grades. The idea was to provide a school that would make use of the Mae Carden system of phonics reading instruction in a region which, according to critics, had been turning out poor spellers and slow readers. The Oakland parents had become depressed with reading education provided in big, heterogeneous public school classes which, inevitably, tend to hold the higher I. Q. students to the pace of the slow.

When Dr. Conant was busy criticizing the private school on the basis that it was "undemocratic," he could not have meant to imply that "democracy" must insist that every student, whether brilliant or stupid, should be compelled to go at the same pace. Naturally, since every person in a democracy benefits from living in a literate community, it is right for the state to provide tax-supported public schools paid for by everybody. But since every person in a democracy also benefits from the excellence of a few students who graduate from school to provide such necessary qualities as diversity, inventiveness, ingenuity, and leadership, it is also right that small, individualized private schools should be encouraged.

The ease is clear that nobody in a democracy has a legitimate objection to school taxes. But the case is also clear that parents who prefer to send their children to private or parochial schools should get a tax remission to support their choice. Democracy has an interest in universality of education; it also has an interest in fruitful diversity.

'There Were Rats In The House'

What Will Russia Do On The Sinkiang Border?

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG
Everyone would now be waiting breathlessly for the worst sort of trouble on the Chinese-Russian border if this were still a normal world, or even if Communist China and the Soviet Union were normal modern states.

The accumulated signs of trouble are decidedly impressive. The Soviets have accused the Chinese of 5,000 border violations "systematically" committed since 1960; and they have also stated that the Chinese have been trying "in the most flagrant manner to appropriate individual sections of Soviet territory."

The Chinese have accused the Soviets of subversive activities in the Ili valley in Sinkiang province—since Czarist times, the area most consistently in dispute between China and Russia. And they have said the Soviets "enticed and coerced several tens of thousands of Chinese citizens into going to the Soviet Union."

The Russians have boasted, in reply, that they were indeed compelled by sheer human loving kindness to receive great numbers of pitiful refugees from the misery and terror now prevailing on the Chinese side of the border. At intervals, the Soviets are also publishing horror stories about conditions in Sinkiang which are purportedly written, and probably are really written, by members of these refugee groups.

Since a little after the mid-nineteenth century, Russia has made a renewed grab for this great Central Asian Chinese province of Sinkiang on the average of about once every 20 years. Some of the grabs have come very close to success, too, mainly because Sinkiang is largely populated by Kazakhs, Uighurs, Tadzhiks, and other non-Chinese minority groups which are wide open to Russian subversion.

Across the border, the Russians now have an individual soviet republic for each of the five most important racial minorities in Sinkiang. The horror stories seem to be chosen to represent these groups—first one from a Kazakh, then one from a Uighur, and so on.

If you put all the assorted facts together in this manner, the pattern becomes pretty startling. Furthermore, charges of border violations generally fall into a special class, even when used by Communist propagandists.

To be blunt about it, border violations are like adultery, in the sense that the injured parties do not normally complain about their injury unless they mean to do something reasonably drastic about it. The question is, then, what all this rumpus really does portend.

There are three possible answers, and you can take your choice among them. The first and least likely is that all these angry exchanges between Moscow and Peking are mere "sound and fury, signifying nothing."

The second answer, which is quite likely, is that the Soviets are threatening China's Sinkiang border as a form of deterrence. The American government is apparently convinced that the Chinese are like old ladies who knit to no purpose, just to pass the time, but in the Chinese case the presumed meaningless pastime is preparing invasions. The Soviets are highly unlikely to take quite such a happy view of the long—completed Chinese preparations for a second invasion of India.

And if such an invasion is launched and goes unpunished, Soviet prestige in Asia will suffer only a little less than American prestige.

It is striking, therefore, that the same Moscow statement denouncing the 5,000 border violations also included the remark that the "Chinese leaders have developed some special aims and interests which the Socialist camp cannot support with its military might." This open, though partial, tearing up of the much-frayed Sino-Soviet mutual defense treaty was plainly pointed towards the Indian problem, as Peking must have understood at once.

Yet the Soviet leaders may well feel this first step is not nearly strong enough, particularly since no practical preparations whatever have been made to force China to pay an appropriately high price for another invasion of India. The Soviets may therefore be using the menace of really bad trouble on China's Sinkiang frontier as a most powerful additional deterrent of an Indian adventure—which it must certainly be.

Finally, of course, the Soviets may actually be preparing to do something drastic on the Sinkiang frontier. The outside world would probably know no more of such preparations than was known about the great Soviet-Japanese battle of Nomonhan in the early 1930's, news of which only leaked out two years later.

If this is really the Soviet purpose, the trouble ahead for the Peking leadership is impossible to estimate too high. It just may be the Soviet purpose at that. But deterrence looks like a more prudent bet for the present.

COALS TO NEWCASTLE — Times are changing in the once Wild West, and Sen. Lee Metcalf of Montana isn't altogether happy about it. It so depressed him that he interrupted debate on the test ban treaty the other day to call the matter to the attention of the Senate.

Metcalf bemoaned the fact that a rancher from his state has been unable to find a horse breaker or trainer to work for him among the once rugged world of Western cowhands. He has had to import one from Australia where livestock are still herded from the back of a horse and not from a lightpickup truck or station wagon.

"What will the American image be abroad," Metcalf asked, "if it becomes known that the nation of cowboys and Indians, which exports hundreds of Western movies, where even former Presidents read Western novels, has to import a horse wrangler from the other side of the world?"

Metcalf has hit on the answer, although probably unwittingly. It is apparent that his Montana rancher couldn't find a horse breaker because all the competent cow hands are more gainfully employed in Hollywood and on TV.

British Learn Lesson From Smallpox Outbreak

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Every time an outbreak of smallpox occurs, hordes of people rush to their physicians for vaccination. This creates a shortage of the vaccine and does not help control the spread of the disease. These who stampede the hardest appreciate the need for booster protection but have procrastinated until the last minute.

There were five separate importations of smallpox into England and Wales early in 1962. The ministry of health found that mass vaccinations seldom were of value in these emergencies. But public hysteria was such they had to yield to pressure and this hindered their main line of attack.

So many physicians were side-tracked for vaccinations, not enough were available to isolate those with the disease and to seek out and vaccinate every one who came into contact with a victim. These people are most likely to get the disease and need prompt protection.

We like to think that history—so far as concerns epidemics—will not repeat itself. Outbreaks of smallpox are becoming more frequent in many parts of the world and we should not be lulled into a false sense of security just because we have been lucky. Get vaccinated now.

The outbreak on the British Isles involved only 67 persons but it was lethal: 26 died, which is a fatality rate of 39 per cent. The smallpox virus has no more sympathy for modern man than it had for those living two centuries ago.

English health authorities were forced to tighten their rules at seaports and airports. They now realize the danger of allowing a large number of immigrants from countries where smallpox was raging (in this case, Pakistan) to wander about England and Wales. People coming from places where the disease exists should have an International Certificate proving they have been vaccinated against smallpox or be placed under surveillance until known to be free from infection.

QUINSY SORE THROAT

Mrs. L. writes: I would like to know about quinsy sore throat, as this information may come in handy.

REPLY

This super-sore throat is not common today, because of our antibiotic drugs. The infection is caused by one of a variety of micro-organisms that settle in the tonsil area. A painful abscess develops which must be lanced to release the pus.

SAFE ICE CUBES

C. F. writes: Is water from ice cubes just as pure as boiled water?

REPLY

No. In most areas, tap water is considered safe even though it contains a few micro-organisms. These microbes hibernate when frozen but come to life when the cubes are thawed. The answer to your question would be yes, if the water was boiled before being frozen.

NO REAL RELATIONSHIP

T. G. writes: Is glandular fever

related to leukemia?

REPLY

No, but they are similar enough to be mistaken for each other in the early stages. In some instances an expert hematologist (blood specialist) is required to tell the difference between the white cells in the two conditions.

EYE ARTERIES

B. L. writes: Can hardening of the arteries of the eyes cause blindness?

REPLY

Yes, provided clots obstruct the blood vessels and the retina or the optic nerves degenerate.

FLATFOOT AND LEG PAINS

B. V. writes: Could pain in the calf of the legs be due to fallen arches? If so, can anything be done about it?

REPLY

Yes, this is one cause of leg pain. Our leaflet on flatfoot, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request, offers various suggestions for the correction of fallen arches.

TEST WON'T HURT

W. R. writes: Is the blood test you have to take before marriage painful?

REPLY

A needle is inserted into a vein in the forearm to obtain a teaspoon of blood. It hurts for a moment but few complain.

MIDDLE AGE AND DEPRESSION

Mrs. R. writes: I'm 55 years old and get depressed every once in a while. Could this be blamed on the menopause?

REPLY

The menopause is blamed for many conditions. But this time let's blame your age, basic personality, goals, needs, family situation, or anything else that made you blue 20 years ago.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Smart Lawyers Cited As Reason Kings Of Underworld Still Rule

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—As Joe Valachi continues to recite the bizarre record of underworld crime, the American public continues to wonder how the kings of the underworld can continue to rule their subjects right under the noses of city police and the FBI.

To illustrate one reason why, I dug into my files to examine the record of Carlos Marcello, head of the Mafia in New Orleans and one of the most notorious yet unscathed criminals in the United States. Marcello has been protected by the skill of a very smart lawyer plus the built-in guarantees of the U. S. Constitution.

My files show that on Oct. 12, 1950—thirteen years ago this week—I wrote about Marcello as follows: "Real boss of the Mafia in Louisiana. He was reported to have been picked by Frankie Costello at a meeting of the New Orleans Black Diamond Club in 1947. Known as the 'Little Man,' Marcello is the No. 1 gangster and racketeer in Louisiana."

He has established a virtual monopoly on criminal activity in that area . . . tied in with Costello and Dandy Phil Kastel through the Beverly Country Club in which he owns 17 per cent.

"Marcello's criminal record goes back to 1929, when he served a year and a day for a marijuana violation. Though not a citizen, the immigration authorities ruled on Dec. 3, 1938 that Marcello did not appear to be deportable. Yet he served five years of a 9-to-14 year sentence for assault and robbery, later was granted a full pardon by Gov. O. K. Allen, July 16, 1935. Since his release from Atlanta, Marcello has been arrested four times, but has instituted such a reign of fear in New Orleans that few witnesses dare testify against him.

"Marcello's holdings are fabulous and include dozens of bars, taverns, garages; also the Dixie Coin Machine Co., Jefferson Music Co., B. Robertson Distributing Co., and Fogarty's News Service."

Supreme Court Says "Out" After publication of this column, the late Sen. Estes Kefauver included Marcello in his crime probe and on Dec. 30, 1952, the Immigration Service started deportation proceedings. The order was issued Feb. 20, but Marcello's smart battery of lawyers appealed all the way up to the Supreme Court. This took three years.

The court ruled on May 31 that Marcello was deportable.

That, however, was only the beginning. The "Little Man" from New Orleans has now taken a total of three appeals to the Supreme Court. All have gone against him.

The secret of his delaying tactics and the fact that he is still in the U.S.A. is Jack Wasserman, one of the smartest immigration attorneys in the business. Wasserman has handled the cases of such notorious persons as Frankie Costello and Nicholas Malaxa, the Rumanian refugee, described by Rep. Jack Shelly, D-Calif., Rep. Frank Kowalski, D-Conn., and other congressmen as the financial backer of the Rumanian Iron Guard which began the massacre of Rumanian Jews during the war. Both Costello and Malaxa are still in the United States. After the Supreme Court ruled Marcello deportable in 1955, Wasserman conceived the brilliant idea of getting an injunction in the Italian courts to prevent his return to that country. Wasserman contended he was not an Italian citizen.

13 Years Of Delay Italy then withdrew his passport, and the Justice Department had to begin a new round of legal motions. Simultaneously, Marcello's smart battery of lawyers, led by Wasserman, filed a new round of motions, claiming that the New Orleans gangster would be persecuted if he went back to Italy.

Finally in 1959, the Immigration Service, fed up with the legal maneuverings, flew "the Little Man" without a country to Guatemala where he was supposed to have been born. Alleged birth registration papers had been found in that country.

But Marcello's smart attorneys claimed the papers were a forgery, and made the charge stick. So Marcello came back to his old stamping ground—New Orleans.

The little man has taken the Fifth Amendment 115 times before the Kefauver Committee and more than fifty times before the Senate Rackets Committee.

His record for moral turpitude is clear. He has had two criminal convictions. He is not a citizen of the United States. Yet thanks to the legal maneuvering of Jack Wasserman, Marcello is still in the United States 13 years to the week after my first column exposing him.

This is one answer to the public's bewilderment regarding the ability of the underworld to continue its operations inside the U.S.A.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Sometimes, the memory of a person will not go away. A few weeks ago, I researched a series of articles on Harlem, the big Negro community in New York City. Mrs. Jacqueline Lowe was one of many persons interviewed. Our paths may never cross again, but I am impressed. She is an educational counselor; a wise one with a sense of humor. She laughs when most of her people want to weep.

Mrs. Lowe is big and stout. She has a young son who attends a parochial school. She answers questions with the certainty—the lack of hesitation—of one who has lived with these problems for a long time. She has more than a love of children; she understands them.

She knows the importance of a pink ribbon; a starched frock; a word of praise to a backward student; the comfort of big arms around a little Negro boy who cries for his mother in kindergarten; most of all, the ability to laugh at one's self.

Jacqueline Lowe sometimes laughs until the tears come. One afternoon, her son came in from school, and she was in the kitchen cooking. He was bursting with pride. She asked him what was new. She learned that the white students, who had treated the boy as just another student, suddenly began to treat him with awe.

"Why?" she asked. The boy beamed. "Because," he said, "our teacher told us that my ancestors were slaves. Bet you didn't know that!"

The serious side of Mrs. Lowe begins to show when education is discussed. In New York State, Governor Nelson Rockefeller has ordered de facto integration, even in cases where the Negro leaders think it is wrong. She is aware that, among her people, there are some loud lunatics and she fears that only they will be heard.

"I work in the Harlem school system," she says quietly. "Our classes are overcrowded. Our children have suffered through poor teaching. Most of them are two years behind in arithmetic and spelling. If you send ours to all-white schools, are you going to demote them two grades?"

A good question. It means additional punishment for the Negro student. Also, as Mrs. Lowe pointed out, suppose the Negro student makes friends? Suppose he is invited to a white boy's house after school? "He's going to see the difference right away. This will depress him further. Also, can he reciprocate by inviting the white boy to the slum he calls home?"

There are questions within questions. Mrs. Lowe favors integration ardently. "My people aren't ready for it yet," she says. "Give them a little time. I don't know the answers. Maybe we ought to build new schools on the edge of Harlem, so that white and colored can attend, and get to understand each other. Whatever the answer is, it's going to require years of work. I may not live to see it."

I was interested in kindergarten students. The first year in school is really the first year of conscious life. It is the child's challenge to work with strangers, to think for himself. Many of the youngsters' impressions of people and the world are picked up in that first year. If he is afraid, and the impressions are bad, he cannot grow up to be a good citizen.

The laughter returned to Mrs. Lowe's pearly teeth. The state does a good job, she thought, with white students. The Negro child, she pointed out, especially the child of Harlem, finds the first textbooks alien to what he knows. The opening page of the picture book shows a man and woman in an automobile on a country road. Underneath, the caption says: "Mother and father go to the country to visit grandma." The Harlem child is confused at once.

In the first place, he lives in a community which is almost totally Negro. White people are not a part of his daily life, and the picture shows white people. In the second place, Harlem is a place where fathers are second class citizens. Many of them leave home, or come and go as they please. The mothers find it easier to get work than the fathers, and they earn more.

So the little kindergarten student may not have a father. If he has one, he is seldom proud. Next, the child wants to know what is a grandma. Harlem families, quite often, are non-native. Grandparents may be unknown to the child.

" . . . go to the country." The young one wants to know what that is. Unless he comes from a solvent family, he has never been to the country; never been out of the city. Some students admit that they have never been out of Harlem.

Talking to Mrs. Lowe gave me a new appreciation of old problems. A wise woman. One not easily forgotten . . .

Use Of Radar Is Planned In Westernport

WESTERNPORT — The Mayor and Commissioners Monday evening authorized Municipal Attorney Horace P. Whitworth Jr. to draft an ordinance for radar use for proposed adoption at the next council meeting.

In an effort to curtail excessive speeding on various streets, the officials are contemplating the purchase of radar equipment.

Applications for extra police work will be received at the city hall to be acted on at the next meeting.

Clyde Marsh, local building contractor, requested municipal facilities to serve a new development located on Baughman Street within the corporation limits.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt said the council wants to encourage new development and he felt the request deserved full cooperation.

Present needs for water and sewer lines up Ross Street to the area on Baughman Street. This will require 500 feet of 8-inch terra cotta and 100 feet each of 4 and 6-inch cast iron pipe. Mrs. Philip Hartig, city clerk, was instructed to place an order for this material plus an additional 100 feet of sewer pipe to be used on Riordan Road.

In reference to a communication from the Lions Club, regarding their road project, it was decided to arrange a meeting to discuss procedure for transferring the responsibility of the new road to the town.

The club initiated the venture some time ago at the request of residents for easy access to the Greens Addition area.

Thomas Wilt requested some blacktop on Kolberg Hill, a street adjoining Route 36. The Council complied.

Potomac Fire Company No. 2 revealed an offer for the sale of their old fire truck. There was no objection.

There was considerable discussion of the monthly trash collection. It was reported that many residents have unusually large loads of trash to be hauled away and this works a hardship on the street crew as well as taking up a lot of extra time on this first week of the month. No action was taken.

Koufax Awarded Corvette With $15 Parking Ticket

Sandy Expresses Hopes For Future At Presentation

By RUSS GREEN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—They gave Sandy Koufax a brand-new sports car Tuesday as the outstanding player of the World Series—complete with brand-new $15 parking ticket.

Southpaw Koufax, who whipped the Yankees twice as the Dodgers swept the series in four games, was given the car, a Corvette, at a luncheon here by Sports Magazine. Before the presentation, the car was driven up on the sidewalk for picture-taking.

The Yankees never caught up with Koufax—but right then and there, patrolman Robert Spero of the 10th Police Precinct did.

Spero stepped through the admiring crowd and stuck a green parking ticket, which calls for a $15 fine, on the windshield of the snappy little car. Since it hadn't even been given to Koufax yet, it was expected that the auto dealer would pay the $15.

In a brief speech accepting the award, Koufax brushed off his own Series heroics and talked about his hopes for the future. "I would like to win more games than anyone else," dark-haired Sandy said. "But I would have to be fortunate to pitch long enough to do that."

Koufax, 28, has won 83 games in his big league career while Warren Spahn, 42-year-old southpaw star of the Milwaukee Braves, has won 360, more than any other lefthander in history. Koufax didn't mention it, but Spahn had only 65 victories at age 28.

"Spahn was great 15 years ago," Koufax pointed out. "And he's still great now—maybe even greater. I've got to hold on as long as I can."

Sandy had a few kind words for his victims, the Yankees.

"The Dodgers could not have lost two players like Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris for such long periods and won," Koufax said. "During the Series the Dodgers did everything right for four days."

"That Yankee infield is as great an infield as I ever saw," Koufax said. "And that includes Joe Pepitone."

As for himself, Sandy said he had two "great thrills" in the final game.

"The first was when I thought the game was over," he grinned. "The second was when it was really over."

Koufax was referring to the play when Bobby Richardson apparently had been forced at second base for the last out of the Series but Dodger second baseman Dick Tracowski dropped the ball.

Koufax, Groat Top All-Star Voting Of UPI

Ford, Richardson, Howard Selected

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pitcher Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers was a unanimous choice, and shortstop Dick Groat of the St. Louis Cardinals was elected with only one dissenting vote Tuesday to the United Press International's 1963 major league All-Star team.

Koufax, who beat the New York Yankees twice in the World Series after a season during which he won 25 games, struck out 306 batters, had a record 11 shutouts and compiled a 1.38 earned run average, was named by all 24 experts who participated in the UPI's post-season survey.

Groat, who became the sparkplug of the Cardinals' surprising bid for the National League pennant after being obtained from the Pittsburgh Pirates, was picked by 23 of the 24 experts. The other vote for shortstop went to Jim Fregosi of the Los Angeles Angels.

Other Choices

Also selected on the team were pitcher Whitey Ford, catcher Elston Howard and second-baseman Bobby Richardson of the Yanks, first baseman Bill White and third baseman Ken Boyer of the Cardinals and outfielders Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves, Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers.

Aaron and Mays had 22 votes each, Boyer had 20, Howard, White and Kaline had 18 each, Ford had 16 and Richardson had 15.

Groat, returning to the heights of 1960 when he won the NL's most valuable player award, batted .319 with 201 hits, including six homers and 73 runs batted in. In addition, he proved the cohesive force that made the Cardinals infield the best in the NL.

Aaron made a season-long bid for the triple crown and wound up with a .319 mark, 44 homers and 130 runs batted in and Mays, after a slow start, finished with 38 homers, 103 runs batted in and .314.

Posts 24-7 Mark

Ford had a 24-7 record and a 2.74 ERA and Richardson hit .265 in addition to helping the Yankees a vital double play combination in their brilliant defense.

Boyer hit .285 with 24 homers and 111 runs batted in. Howard had a .287 mark with 85 runs batted in and 28 homers. White walked .304 spiced with 27 homers and 109 runs batted in and Kaline had a .312 average, 27 homers and 101 RBI's.

Oklahoma Three-Point Favorite Over Texas In Top Weekend Battle

Alabama, Navy Picked To Win By 13 Margin

Terps-Tar Heels Struggle Even; WVU Given Edge

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oklahoma Tuesday was rated a three-point favorite over Texas in Saturday's clash between the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 ranked college football teams.

The Oklahoma Sooners, idle last week after knocking off defending national champion Southern California two Saturdays ago, will carry a 2-0 record into the battle at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

Coach Darrell Royal's Texans, with a 3-0 record, tuned up for this early season meeting of the Titans by crushing Oklahoma State, 34-7, last Saturday. Oklahoma has won nine regular-season games since last year's 9-6 loss to the Longhorns, although the Sooners also lost in the Orange Bowl game on New Year's Day.

Pitt Has Week Off

Third-ranked Alabama, with a 3-0 record and stepping on the leaders' heels, is a 13-point favorite over Florida. Fourth-ranked Pitt, after three victories over West Coast teams, takes a week off while fifth-ranked Wisconsin is a 7-point choice over Purdue, a clash of two teams that rallied for last-gasp victories over Notre Dame.

In the nationally televised game of the week, Northwestern, stung by its upset loss to Illinois last week, is an 8-point pick to bounce back into the winning column against Minnesota.

In Friday night games, Navy and classy quarterback Roger Staubach, the No. 6 team nationally, are 13-point favorites over SMU; Syracuse is favored by 6 over UCLA; Louisiana State is 3 over Miami (Fla.) despite passing ace George Mira; and Virginia Tech is favored by 12 over George Washington.

TAGGED BY A YANKEE ROOTER?—Los Angeles southpaw Sandy Koufax who wasn't tagged much by New York Yankee batters when he beat them in two World Series games, holds tag — parking ticket — given him by a New York policeman yesterday. Koufax, awarded a sports car for being the outstanding player in the series, appeared at a downtown restaurant to get his prize which was driven onto the sidewalk in front of the establishment for the benefit of photographers. The policeman wrote out the ticket charging Koufax with parking on sidewalk and obstructing pedestrian traffic. (AP Photofax)

Koufax Awarded Corvette With $15 Parking Ticket

Sandy Expresses Hopes For Future At Presentation

By RUSS GREEN United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—They gave Sandy Koufax a brand-new sports car Tuesday as the outstanding player of the World Series—complete with brand-new $15 parking ticket.

Southpaw Koufax, who whipped the Yankees twice as the Dodgers swept the series in four games, was given the car, a Corvette, at a luncheon here by Sport Magazine. Before the presentation, the car was driven up on the sidewalk for picture-taking.

The Yankees never caught up with Koufax—but right then and there patrolman Robert Spero of the 10th Police Precinct did. Spero stepped through the admiring crowd and stuck a green parking ticket, which calls for a $15 fine, on the windshield of the snappy little car. Since it hadn't even been given to Koufax yet, it was expected that the auto dealer would pay the $15.

In a brief speech accepting the award, Koufax brushed off his own Series heroics and talked about his hopes for the future. "I would like to win more games than anyone else," dark-haired Sandy said. "But I would have to be fortunate to pitch long enough to do that."

Koufax, 28, has won 83 games in his big league career while Warren Spahn, 42-year-old southpaw star of the Milwaukee Braves, has won 360, more than any other lefthander in history. Koufax didn't mention it, but Spahn had only 65 victories at age 28.

"Spahn was great 15 years ago," Koufax pointed out. "And he's still great now—maybe even greater. I've got to hold on as long as I can."

Sandy had a few kind words for his victims, the Yankees. "The Dodgers could not have over Oakland; Kansas City 9 over Buffalo; San Diego 10 over New York."

As for himself, Sandy said he had two "great thrills" in the final game. "The first was when I thought the game was over," he grinned. "The second was when it was really over."

Koufax was referring to the play when Bobby Richardson apparently had been forced at second base for the last out of the Series but Dodger second baseman Dick Tracewski dropped the ball.

Picture Day Set For Alco Squad Friday

Allegany's football team has an open date this weekend, but the Camper gridders will be in action for "camera bugs" on Friday afternoon. Coach Ed Schwarz has designated Friday as "Picture Day," and anyone wishing to photograph members of the team may do so at the school practice field beginning at 3 p. m.

Schwarz said that the Campers will be wearing both their blue and white dress uniforms for the benefit of picture-snapping students, parents and fans.

Romney Gridders Lose Another Back

Romney High School's hopes for an undefeated season suffered another setback with the news that regular fullback Paul Parsons sustained a broken wrist in last Friday's 19-13 victory over Beall.

The Pioneers, sporting a 5-0 record and ranked fourth among West Virginia Class AA schools, lost halfback Doug Freeland with a broken collarbone in the Bruce game week before last.

Parsons, a senior, suffered his

Cepeda Files For Divorce, Changes Mind

Action Dropped Within Hours

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Orlando Cepeda, star first baseman of the San Francisco Giants, filed suit for divorce Tuesday in Superior Court then within hours reconciled with his wife and dropped the action.

Cepeda had filed suit this morning on grounds of "extreme cruelty."

But, according to attorney Marvin Lewis, the moody slugger changed his mind. "Orlando told me that he and his wife had reconciled and that he was not going to pursue any divorce action," Lewis said at a hastily called press conference. "They seem to be very happy lovebirds."

Earlier in the day, Cepeda had denied that he had filed suit for divorce when contacted at his home.

"Orlando didn't think there would be any publicity when he filed a complaint and was shocked to learn that the public knew about it," Lewis said. "But he did file one and had signed it."

His petition said that he and his wife, the former Ana Hilda Pino Valaquez, had separated on Monday.

Cepeda, whose libel suit against a magazine was thrown out of court during the recent baseball season, was married Dec. 4, 1960 in Puerto Rico.

injury after making a 12-yard gain in the third period of the game at Frostburg. He leads the team in rushing yardage at this stage, but may be sidelined for five weeks.

Koufax, Groat Top All-Star Voting Of UPI

Ford, Richardson, Howard Selected

By FRED DOWN UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pitcher Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers was a unanimous choice and shortstop Dick Groat of the St. Louis Cardinals was elected with only one dissenting vote Tuesday to the United Press International's 1963 major league All-Star team.

Koufax, who beat the New York Yankees twice in the World Series after a season during which he won 25 games, struck out 306 batters, had a record 11 shutouts and compiled a 1.38 earned run average, was named by all 24 experts who participated in the UPI's post-season survey.

Groat, who became the spark-plug of the Cardinals' surprising bid for the National League pennant after being obtained from the Pittsburgh Pirates, was picked by 23 of the 24 experts. The other vote for shortstop went to Jim Fregosi of the Los Angeles Angels.

Other Choices

Also selected on the team were pitcher Whitey Ford, catcher Elston Howard and second-baseman Bobby Richardson of the Yankees, first-baseman Bill White and third-baseman Ken Boyer of the Cardinals and outfielders Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves, Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers.

Aaron and Mays had 22 votes each, Boyer had 20, Howard, White and Kaline had 18 each, Ford had 16 and Richardson had 15.

Groat, returning to the heights of 1960 when he won the NL's most valuable player award, batted .319 with 201 hits, including six homers and 73 runs batted in. In addition, he proved the cohesive force that made the Cardinals infield the best in the NL. Aaron made a season-long bid for the triple crown and wound up with a .319 mark, 44 homers and 130 runs batted in and Mays, after a slow start, finished with 38 homers, 103 runs batted in and .314.

Posts 24-7 Mark

Ford had a 24-7 record and a 2.74 ERA and Richardson hit .265 in addition to giving the Yankees a vital double play combination in their brilliant defense.

Boyer hit .285 with 24 homers and 111 runs batted in. Howard had a .287 mark with 85 runs batted in and 28 homers. White walloped .304 spiced with 27 homers and 109 runs batted in and Kaline had a .312 average, 27 homers and 101 RBIs.

Keener To Retire

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Sid C. Keener will retire Oct. 31 as director of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum. Keener, 75, has held the position 11 years, since his retirement as sports editor of the St. Louis Star-Times.

Paul S. Kerr, president of the Hall of Fame, indicated that a successor has not yet been selected.

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Francis Dupre's Relko will represent France in the $150,000 Washington, D. C. International Nov. 11 despite his setback Sunday in Paris, John Schapiro announced Tuesday.

Witnesses said Foyt, following a heat event, threw a punch at driver Johnny White who was still strapped in his race car, then applied a head-lock to him.

Foyt, 1961 Indianapolis "500" champion who also won the National Driving title in 1960 and 1961, won the 30-lap feature when John McGuire, the actual winner, was disqualified for having an oversized engine.

Punt, Pass, Kick Program Set Saturday

Boys 8 To 11 Will Vie; Registration Deadline Extended

Approximately 150 boys 8 through 11 have already registered for the annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition to be staged Saturday at 1 p.m., at Fort Hill Stadium.

The program is sponsored nationally by the National Football League and the Ford Dealers of America. Locally, the Rotary Club and Gratton Ford, Inc., are running the show.

Joseph S. Gratton, of Gratton Ford Inc., stated last night that registrations will be kept open through Saturday at 10 a.m. Boys in the four age groups—8-9-10 and 11—may register at the Central YMCA, the Sports Shoppe and the Gratton Ford Inc., 215 South George Street.

Mr. Gratton expressed the hope that total registration will approach the 250 mark by Saturday afternoon.

"PP & K" pits the punting, passing and place-kicking skills of boys 8 through 11 against all other participants of the same age.

Total scores, based on the distance and accuracy of their punts, passes and place-kicks will determine the winners in all PP & K competition—local, regional and national.

First prize will be a warmup jacket, while football helmets and autographed footballs will be the second and third prizes.

After the local competitions, 204 special trophies will be awarded in each state and the District of Columbia to the boys who compiled the highest point total in their age brackets statewide. In addition, 204 runner-up awards will be given for the first time in the program's history.

Fifty-six regional winners will display their PP & K prowess during the halftime of designated November NFL games of their home teams, and from among them will emerge the eight youths who qualify for the tour of champions and the showdown for National honors at the NFL title game December 29.

Top prize for the eight national finalists will be an all-expense paid "tour of champions" for the youths and their parents, December 26-29. It begins with a two-day visit to Washington, from Washington, the group will fly to Dearborn for a visit to the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village.

The four national winners will be presented footballs autographed by the two NFL teams and trophies symbolic of the national PP & K championships.

Robert M. Williams, general secretary of the YMCA, is director of Saturday's program at the stadium. Members of the local Rotary Club will assist.

Bruce Jayvees Edge Allegany

Yesterday's Scratches

Bruce High School's Jayvees defeated a junior varsity unit from Allegany yesterday in a 7-0 struggle at Clark Field in Keyser. The victory evened the Little Bulldogs' record at 2-2.

The only scoring in the game came in the opening period when Johnny Wiltson bulled his way over from three yards out for a 55-yard pass play by John Prado put Bruce deep in the visitors' territory.

Both teams threatened in the second half, but lost the ball on downs shy of the goal.

The summary:

Bruce Jayvees 7 0 0 0-0
Touchdown: Johnny Wiltson (3-yard run).
Point after Touchdown: Wiltson (run).

Wineow Street Bridge Project Is Started Here

Is Final Project On South Approach

Work on the construction of a bridge across the B & O tracks at Wineow Street and approaches which will complete the South Approach of the Cumberland Thruway has started, John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer for the State Roads Commission, announced yesterday.

The work was officially started Monday by C. J. Langenfelder and Sons, Inc., of Baltimore, which was awarded the $1,098,099 contract to build a five-span steel beam and welded girder bridge across the railroad tracks, along with the construction of a 0.46-mile dual highway from the intersection of Cresap and Thomas streets to Williams Street.

Construction offices have been placed on the site by the contractor and the SRC, and the company plans to begin moving equipment to the site this week.

Mr. Bushby said the contractor will begin work soon on excavating for footers which will support the bridge piers and that the City of Cumberland will move in next week to relocate a sewer line which crosses Wineow Street on the project right of way.

The work will be done by City Sewer Department crews and will include the laying of 176 feet of 15-inch and 32 feet of 24-inch sanitary sewer line. Bids for needed pipe were opened by the Mayor and Council Monday.

The bridge will start from a point on Wineow Street where the old Community Ball Park was located and run on a horizontal curve to a point opposite the Cumberland Macaroni Factory on Thomas Street.

It will have two 34-foot dual lanes with a four-foot median strip, and a five-foot sidewalk for pedestrians.

Tax Collections Reach $585,650 At City Hall

Interest Deadline Set October 21

Collections of 1963 taxes have passed the $1½ million mark, Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill reported yesterday.

Some $35,000 was collected at City Hall yesterday, bringing total collections to about $585,650.

This is about 43 per cent of the $1,357,000 tax levy but the percentage in relation to taxes billed is greater, since a considerable part of the funds expected from the tax on the real estate of corporations cannot be billed until assessments are supplied by the State Tax Office.

The City Tax Office is expecting collections to begin picking up this week and to reach a climax next week, since the deadline for interest-free payments is October 21.

Tax bills indicate the deadline on interest payments as October 19, but the time will be extended until Monday since October 19 falls on a Saturday, which is not a normal business day.

This leaves eight more collection days to settle city tax bills at par.

There is a considerable saving if bills are paid on time, since interest, at the rate of ½ per cent a month, will be charged after October 21 and goes back to August 19, the date the levy was set.

Partial payments will, of course, be accepted, Mr. Hill said. In case such payments are made, interest is charged only on the unpaid balance.

Proposed Valley Thruway Would Begin Here

Highway Official Will Tour Route

Plans to have the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania build a modern, high-speed, all-weather highway between Cumberland and Williamsport, Pa., along the "Valley Route of the Central Appalachians" are being advanced by a group of citizens representing five Pennsylvania counties and Allegany County, Maryland.

The group, the Appalachian Thruway Association, presented its case for the new thruway to Pennsylvania Highways Secretary Henry D. Harrel at Harrisburg September 27 and came away with his promise to tour the proposed route next month.

Would Start Here

The Appalachian Thruway would thread the Appalachian Mountain range through the only continuous valley in the central state region, starting at Cumberland and passing through Bedford, Blair, Centre, Clinton and Lycoming counties in Pennsylvania.

It would serve such important centers as Bedford, Altoona, Tyrone, State College, Philipsburg, Bellefonte, Lock Haven, Jersey Shore and Williamsport, and would link Pennsylvania with U. S. Routes 40 and 220 in Cumberland while giving this area highspeed access to Pennsylvania's turnpike and other major east-west routes.

Is Valley Route

The new expressway would be aligned generally along the route now followed by U. S. Route 220 and would include a northwesterly spur to link State College with the Mid-State Airport (Black Moshannon) and the Keystone Shortway.

The new road would provide the major connection for the region between the Keystone Shortway and the Pennsylvania Turnpike. In addition, it would link such major east-west arteries as the National Highway (U. S. 40), the Lincoln Highway (U. S. 30), the William Penn Highway (U. S. 22), and U. S. Routes 322 and 15.

It is proposed that the Thruway be constructed as a four-lane, high-speed, arterial highway, of modified access design, and built to Federal Interstate Highway standards.

To Use Improvements

Among the presently designed or proposed highway improvements which would be utilized along the route of the Appalachian Thruway are:

Cumberland, bypass of U. S. 220 north-south and U. S. 40 east-west. Centerville, Pa., bypass of U. S. 220 north-south.

Bedford, Pa., relocation and bypass of U. S. 220 north-south. Altoona, Pa., connect with proposed improvement of U. S. 22 east-west.

Tyrone, Pa., proposed bypass of U. S. 220 north-south.

State College, Pa., connect with Keystone Shortway east-west at proposed interchange.

Blanchard, Pa., designed relocation of U. S. 220 around Blanchard Dam (18 miles).

Jersey Shore, Pa., proposed bypass of U. S. 220 northeast-southwest.

Williamsport, Pa., connect with proposed bypass of U. S. 15 north-south.

Kylertown, Pa., connect with Keystone Shortway at proposed interchange.

During the 1950s, approximately $15 million was spent by Pennsylvania in modernizing sections of U. S. 220, with major projects designed to federal standards which would meet the requirements of the Appalachian Thruway.

Are Directors

Directors of the Appalachian Thruway Association include:

Allegany County — Robert C. Petersen, first vice president of the association, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, and Francis A. Kenney, chairman of the Cumberland C of C Highway Committee.

Bedford County — Edmund L. Flynn, Bedford; Kenneth Jenkins, Bedford; E. G. Studebaker, mayor of Bedford.

MISS ANN NORMAN

MISS SANDRA SIME

Lecturers Named For Annual Cooking School

There will be two new faces in the spotlight when the annual Times-News Cooking School opens for a four-day session October 22 at the Strand Theatre.

Making their first appearance at the Cumberland school will be Miss Ann Norman, lecturer, and Miss Sandra Sime, her assistant, field home economists for the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

The school opens Tuesday, October 22, at 7:30 p. m., an evening session planned for 9 to 5 workers and for men who have a leaning toward cooking. The second session will be held on Wednesday at 1:15 p. m., and the third and fourth classes will be held Thursday and Friday at 9:15 a. m.

Joining Miss Norman and Miss Sime in presenting this year's "Spotlight on Foods," will be Les Ford of the Times-News advertising staff, making his second appearance as master of ceremonies.

The annual cooking school is sponsored by the Times-News in cooperation with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Showmanship Needed

The four-day school is an authentic stage production which requires every bit of Miss Norman's knowledge of showmanship, to say nothing of her abilities as an accomplished home economist, while she prepares between 10 and 12 dishes daily in an easy-to-understand manner.

Prior to joining the staff on the Meat Board, Miss Norman taught home economics in Clarksville, Tenn. A graduate of the University of Tennessee, she is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She was president of the statewide Tennessee Home Economics Clubs, a member of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority; a member of Mortar Board, and a recipient of the Danforth Scholarship-Fellowship.

As in most stage productions, the audience is rarely aware of the backstage activities; the results of "behind-the-scenes" movement are viewed in a more tranquil atmosphere.

Precision Valued

Miss Sime, in cooperation with the lecturer, supervises the preparation and showing of more than 40 dishes during the four-day school and is responsible for the right dishes being in the spotlight at just the right time. This requires split-second precision, since the preparation of about 10 recipes during each two-hour presentation is no easy task even for a veteran performer like Miss Sime.

Evidence of her abilities as "stage manager" are made manifest during the colorful Parade of Foods when all of the day's food dishes are artfully displayed before revolving mirrors in full view of the audience.

A native of Rockwell City, Iowa, Miss Sime was graduated from Iowa State University at Ames, where she received her degree in home economics education. Before joining the Meat Board's Homemakers' Service Department, she held positions in radio and television broadcasting in Iowa.

Homes For Senior Citizens Slated

A $10,000 loan by the Public Housing Administration for planning new low-rent homes for older citizens in Frostburg was announced yesterday by Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md.

The notice was received in an Associated Press dispatch from Baltimore.

Officials of the Frostburg Housing Authority said they had not been notified of the loan.

The authority is in the process of planning a 50-family housing development for elderly people only.

William Sluss, executive director, said the development will be a multi-story—probably from seven to nine—apartment house.

The authority has a site for the proposed project under option between Park Lane and Broadway, facing Park Avenue.

Mr. Sluss is scheduled to go to Philadelphia today to discuss the project with Public Housing Administration officials.

Wineow Street Bridge Project Is Started Here

Is Final Project On South Approach

Work on the construction of a bridge across the B & O tracks at Wineow Street and approaches which will complete the South Approach of the Cumberland Thruway has started, John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer for the State Roads Commission, announced yesterday.

The work was officially started Monday by C. J. Langenfelder and Sons, Inc., of Baltimore, which was awarded the $1,098,099 contract to build a five-span steel beam and welded girder bridge across the railroad tracks, along with the construction of a 0.46-mile dual highway from the intersection of Cresap and Thomas streets to Williams Street.

Construction offices have been placed on the site by the contractor and the SRC, and the company plans to begin moving equipment to the site this week.

Mr. Bushby said the contractor will begin work soon on excavating for footers which will support the bridge piers and that the City of Cumberland will move in next week to relocate a sewer line which crosses Wineow Street on the project right of way.

The work will be done by City Sewer Department crews and will include the laying of 176 feet of 15-inch and 32 feet of 24-inch sanitary sewer line. Bids for needed pipe were opened by the Mayor and Council Monday.

The bridge will start from a point on Wineow Street where the old Community Ball Park was located and run on a horizontal curve to a point opposite the Cumberland Macaroni Factory on Thomas Street.

It will have two 34-foot dual lanes with a four-foot median strip, and a five-foot sidewalk for pedestrians.

The contractor, Mr. Bushby said, will erect and put into service one of the dual lanes first, so traffic will not be halted on Wineow Street.

Tax bills indicate the deadline on interest payments as October 19, but the time will be extended until Monday since October 19 falls on a Saturday, which is not a normal business day.

This leaves eight more collection days to settle city tax bills at par.

There is a considerable saving if bills are paid on time, since interest, at the rate of ½ per cent a month, will be charged after October 21 and goes back to August 19, the date the levy was set.

Partial payments will, of course, be accepted, Mr. Hill said. In case such payments are made, interest is charged only on the unpaid balance.

Goldstein Asked For Funds For Air Conditioners

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein yesterday was sent a letter by a committee from the Allegany County Bar Association to see whether state funds might be available to pay the necessary $2,500 for air conditioners for the office of the clerk of Circuit Court and the adjoining record room.

This letter, addressed to Mr. Goldstein, was written by Gorman E. Getty. He explained that the county commissioners' budget lacks funds for capital improvements of this type. Surpluses in collections from the clerk's office at the end of the fiscal year are turned back to the comptroller's office.

The estimate obtained for the air conditioners lists a cost of $999.90 for the front office and $1,474.85 for the record room.

Apple Display Featured By Local Chamber

Three Cumberland area apple orchards and a Cumberland county which makes boxes in which they are shipped are featured in a display sponsored by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The display features top grade apples from the Stegmaier orchards of Cumberland, Consolidated Orchards of Paw Paw, W. Va., and Ewers Orchard of Romney, W. Va.

The boxes in which the apples are displayed were made by the Cumberland Box Company, which also makes boxes of various kinds for the dairy, soft drink and food industry of this area.

The display is being arranged by three Allegany High School art students, Mark Baker, Patti Kolb and Beth Lokey.

Signs on the display point out that more than 1,000 persons are employed by the industry in this area and that many of the some 2,000,000 bushels of high grade apples produced in the area are shipped to major markets throughout the world.

The Chamber said that when the display is completed, a box of apples will be placed in the front of the office for samples.

Proposed Valley Thruway Would Begin Here

Highway Official Will Tour Route

Plans to have the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania build a modern, high-speed, all-weather highway between Cumberland and Williamsport, Pa., along the "Valley Route of the Central Appalachians" are being advanced by a group of citizens representing five Pennsylvania counties and Allegany County, Maryland.

The group, the Appalachian Thruway Association, presented its case for the new thruway to Pennsylvania Highways Secretary Henry D. Harral at Harrisburg September 27 and came away with his promise to tour the proposed route next month.

Would Start Here

The Appalachian Thruway would thread the Appalachian Mountain range through the only continuous valley in the central state region, starting at Cumberland and passing through Bedford, Blair, Centre, Clinton and Lycoming counties in Pennsylvania.

It would serve such important centers as Bedford, Altoona, Tyrone, State College, Philipsburg, Beliefonte, Lock Haven, Jersey Shore and Williamsport, and would link Pennsylvania with U. S. Routes 40 and 220 in Cumberland while giving this area high-speed access to Pennsylvania's turnpike and other major east-west routes.

Is Valley Route

The new expressway would be aligned generally along the route now followed by U. S. Route 220 and would include a northwesterly spur to link State College with the Mid-State Airport (Black Moshannon) and the Keystone Shortway.

The new road would provide the major connection for the region between the Keystone Shortway and the Pennsylvania Turnpike. In addition, it would link such major east-west arteries as the National Highway (U. S. 40), the Lincoln Highway (U. S. 30), the William Penn Highway (U. S. 22), and U. S. Routes 322 and 15.

It is proposed that the Thruway be constructed as a four-lane, high-speed, arterial highway, of modified access design, and built to Federal Interstate Highway standards.

To Use Improvements

Among the presently designed or proposed highway improvements which would be utilized along the route of the Appalachian Thruway are:

Cumberland, bypass of U. S. 220 north-south and U. S. 40 east-west. Centerville, Pa., bypass of U. S. 220 north-south.

Bedford, Pa., relocation and bypass of U. S. 220 north-south.

Altoona, Pa., connect with proposed improvement of U. S. 22 east-west.

Tyrone, Pa., proposed bypass of U. S. 220 north-south.

State College, Pa., connect with Keystone Shortway east-west at proposed interchange.

Blanchard, Pa., designed relocation of U. S. 220 around Blanchard Dam (18 miles).

Jersey Shore, Pa., proposed bypass of U. S. 220 northeast-southwest.

Williamsport, Pa., connect with proposed bypass of U. S. 15 north-south.

Kylertown, Pa., connect with Keystone Shortway at proposed interchange.

During the 1950s, approximately $15 million was spent by Pennsylvania in modernizing sections of U. S. 220, with major projects designed to federal standards which would meet the requirements of the Appalachian Thruway.

Are Directors

Directors of the Appalachian Thruway Association include: Allegany County — Robert C. Petersen, first vice president of the association, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, and Francis A. Kenney, chairman of the Cumberland C of C Highway Committee.

Bedford County — Edmund L. Flynn, Bedford; Kenneth Jenkins, Bedford; E. G. Studebaker, mayor of Bedford.

MISS ANN NORMAN

MISS SANDRA SIME

Lecturers Named For Annual Cooking School

There will be two new faces in the spotlight when the annual Times-News Cooking School opens for a four-day session October 22 at the Strand Theatre.

Making their first appearance at the Cumberland school will be Miss Ann Norman, lecturer, and Miss Sandra Sime, her assistant, field home economists for the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

The school opens Tuesday, October 22, at 7:30 p. m., an evening session planned for 9 to 5 workers and for men who have a leaning toward cooking. The second session will be held on Wednesday at 1:15 p. m., and the third and fourth classes will be held Thursday and Friday at 9:15 a. m.

Joining Miss Norman and Miss Sime in presenting this year's four-day cooking extravaganza, "Spotlight on Foods," will be Les Ford of the Times-News advertising staff, making his second appearance as master of ceremonies.

The annual cooking school is sponsored by the Times-News in cooperation with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Showmanship Needed

The four-day school is an authentic stage production which requires every bit of Miss Norman's knowledge of showmanship, to say nothing of her abilities as an accomplished home economist, while she prepares between 10 and 12 dishes daily in an easy-to-understand manner.

Prior to joining the staff on the Meat Board, Miss Norman taught home economics in Clarksville, Tenn. A graduate of the University of Tennessee, she is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She was president of the statewide Tennessee Home Economics Clubs, a member of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority; a member of Mortar Board, and a recipient of the Danforth Scholarship-Fellowship.

As in most stage productions, the audience is rarely aware of the backstage activities; the results of "behind-the-scenes" movement are viewed in a more tranquil atmosphere.

Precision Valued

Miss Sime, in cooperation with the lecturer, supervises the preparation and showing of more than 40 dishes during the four-day school and is responsible for the right dishes being in the spotlight at just the right time. This requires split-second precision, since the preparation of about 10 recipes during each two-hour presentation is no easy task even for a veteran performer like Miss Sime.

Evidence of her abilities as "stage manager" are made manifest during the colorful Parade of Foods when all of the day's food dishes are artfully displayed before revolving mirrors in full view of the audience.

A native of Rockwell City, Iowa, Miss Sime was graduated from Iowa State University at Ames, where she received her degree in home economics education. Before joining the Meat Board's Homemakers' Service Department, she held positions in radio and television broadcasting in Iowa.

Special projects listed in the report included ditching Midlothian Road and seeding the ditch line, insulating Knapp's Meadow garage, clearing ditches on East Wilson Road, patched streets in Eckhart, moved surface treatment equipment to Green Ridge Road, sealed Gramlich Road bridge with asphalt and stone, and placed stop sign on Hancock Road at Rocky Gap.

Matters referred to the department by the county commissioners were covered in another part of the report. These included grading all streets in Broadwater Addition, dust control on East Wilson Road, graded, ditched and dust control to Moore's Hollow Road, graded, ditched and oiled Valley View Drive and cut trees from Braddock Farms Road.

The report also noted that in the past two weeks dust control work was completed on 30 other roads.

Another report submitted by Mr. Skelly listed work proposed between October 7 and October 18. Surface treatment will be done on Green Ridge Road, Ziegler Road, Lower Consol Road, Cabin Run Road and South Orleans Road.

In conjunction with National Farm-City Week he will discuss farmer's socialist cooperatives in Hungary. A number of Allegany County farmers will be guests at the meeting.

In other club activities, four directors will be elected tomorrow for three-year terms starting January 1. Fourteen members were nominated at the September 19 meeting.
